No Date Set Bonner Vote Soon

Johnson

By JACK FRY
Legislative Reporter

Premier Bennett said Friday a by-election will be held within two months in an effort to regain a seat in the legislature for Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

He declined to say, however, which Soored MLA will step down to make room for the attorney-general's election, and would not give the actual date of the by-election.

The premier said he does not plan a major shuffle within the cabinet, although a replacement will have to be found soon for Health Minister Eric Martin, who didn't run in this week's election because of ill health.

POST FOR WOMAN

At least one of the three women who were elected on the Soored ticket last Monday will be given a cabinet post.

Asked whether he will have women on the cabinet, the premier replied: "Perhaps as ministers without portfolio, at the start."

This means that special jobs would be created for the newcomers, which would give them an opportunity to learn about the operations of the government — without immediately being placed in charge of an existing department.

NO GREAT CHANGES

There was no decision at this time how many of the women — Pat Jordan of Okanagan North, Grace McCarthy of Vancouver Little Mountain and Isobel Dawson of Mackenzie — will be given cabinet posts.

Mr. Bennett added that he expects Mr. Martin to remain as B.C.'s health minister "for a month or so," and that there will be "no great changes in the cabinet."

JOB UNCERTAIN

The premier also said he has given "no thought" to the question of whether a government job will be given as compensation to the Soored member who will step down to make room for a by-election for Mr. Bonner, who was defeated in Vancouver-Point Grey.

He denied any knowledge of a report that a meeting will be held here this weekend to decide

Diefenbaker Ready For Vote

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker stood over the remains of his 71st birthday cake in his Commons office Friday and made clear his willingness for another general election.

"One never knows" what a year could bring in races, said the former Conservative prime minister, after joking about his foot race challenge with a Press Gallery member.

Mr. Diefenbaker, 71 Sunday, said Sir John A. Macdonald had won two elections "after he was older than I," adding the last year had been "the best year... a happy and a healthy one."

The U.S. planes shot down in North Vietnam during one of two encounters with the Soviet-built jets, the U.S. military command reported today.

The U.S. pilots tangled with MiGs in running dog fights that ranged from 30 to 50 miles northeast of Hanoi and spotted eight others but did not engage any, a spokesman said.

This means that special jobs would be created for the newcomers, which would give them an opportunity to learn about the operations of the government — without immediately being placed in charge of an existing department.

Bennett Right On Time

A portrait of British Columbia's Premier Bennett will be on the cover of all editions of the Sept. 30 issue of the U.S. news magazine Time.

The world section of this issue of Time, which has a circulation of 3,344,000, will be devoted to the four western provinces — B.C., Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

The magazine will also have a mix-page color spread of pictures taken in Western Canada.

MOST DYNAMIC

Premier Bennett was chosen for the cover picture because he was "the most dynamic of the leaders" from this region, Time spokesman told The Colonist Friday.

Most of the material for the western Canada article was gathered by Time's Calgary bureau chief Ed Ogle. This, along with material from numerous other sources, will be compiled into an article by John Scott, who is in charge of Time's Canadian editorial staff.

Johnson Demands Showdown

Confederation Bomb Ticking

By RON COLLISTER
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Quebec Premier Daniel Johnson is ready to ignite a constitutional crisis and demand an immediate response from Prime Minister Pearson on the future of Confederation.

The showdown is expected at a federal-provincial conference here next month when Mr.

Johnson will face Mr. Pearson with his price for Confederation. Mr. Johnson confirmed Friday that he will set up a constituent assembly to study a new constitution.

He has also referred to a referendum to enlist support for the stand he is now taking and a new constitution. He claims that people should not be misled by the 41 per cent popular vote that made him premier this year. Eighty per cent would vote with him in a referendum, he says.

The speculation here is that Mr. Johnson may soon call another general election and put the referendum on the ballots. His demand is of 100 per cent of income and corporation taxes and succession duties has been rejected by Ottawa.

Mr. Johnson Friday assured 100 started news that the "bomb" he had planted in the capital would not make their wives widows.

He did it jokingly, but the challenge that followed was absolutely serious.

He recognized, he said, the position of Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp at the tax-shaving conference just ended.

But there was a more difficult position for the federal government — "and that's Mr. Pearson's job."

"I don't know if Mr. Pearson will want to put an end to certain rumors."

The rumors that have been

Huge Gold Smuggling Ring Involves Bombay's '400'

BOMBAY, India (AP) — A vast gold smuggling racket — possibly the biggest ever — has been uncovered by police with the arrest this week of some top members of Bombay's high society.

One of India's leading race horse owners, a prominent jeweler and a woman were among 15 persons held following the discovery of $1,000,000 worth of gold in three fashionable apartments.

One of the men was said to have told police that nearly $10,000,000 worth of gold was involved in an international racket.

T. G. Gaokar, whose horse Prince Predeep won western India's triple classics two years ago, appeared in court charged with being involved in the smuggling.

Another of those charged was John D'sa, described in court as an important link in a worldwide scheme to smuggle precious metals into India, where gold jewelry is an ancient form of investment.

D'sa, a customs statement said, confessed that in the last four months the ring had smuggled gold worth almost $10,000,000.

Officials said this was the biggest single smuggling attempt in history.

SECRET BALLOT

Individual contractors will vote by secret ballot next week on the proposals by W. E. Philpot, appointed commissioner by the government. The union already has accepted.

Mr. Philpot said Friday the shorter work week is becoming a reality in British Columbia and he had therefore recommended shorter hours to settle a carpenters' dispute.

Carpenters employed by about 200 contractors have been on strike or locked out since Aug. 3.

His settlement formula called for a reduction in the carpenters' work week to 37½ hours from 40 hours by October, 1967, and a 40-cent-an-hour pay raise on the current $3.45 basic pay.

TWO YEARS

He recommended that both parties agree to a two-year contract already signed by some contractors and that a union-management liaison committee be set up to interpret and apply controversial clauses in the contract.

Arnold Smith, provincial council of carpenters president, said: "The union endorses the recommendations" but said that 1,500 carpenters on strike or locked out would not return to work until management signed the contract.

A spokesman for the carpenters' local in Victoria said they also endorsed Mr. Philpot's settlement formula and were waiting for word from the talks in Vancouver with employers.

Finny Fighters Not So Funny

London (AP) — Brian Miller, who runs a shop in Tiverton, Devonshire, selling newspapers and tobacco — placed a bowl of clear water in his window. Beneath the bowl he put a sign:

"Transparent Chinese Dragon fighting fish."

There were ooohs from the back of the crowd.

"Make room for others," called out a girl on her way to work. "We want to see too."

The response was quite fantastic," said Miller, 39.

"People came into the shop and asked the price of the transparent Chinese Dragon fighting fish. A woman telephoned and said she wanted to buy a pair of them and wanted to know if she should bring a jar or a bowl to take them away."

"I just put . . . the sign into the window to attract attention. When I told some of my regular customers—especially those who'd seen the fish fighting—they didn't like being fooled."

Rhodesia Solution

Smith Plan Confidential

PARIS (Reuters) — Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith said in an interview broadcast here Friday that a solution to the Rhodesian independence dispute is the subject of confidential negotiations between Britain and Rhodesia.

The interview, broadcast by the independent Radio Luxembourg, was recorded by the network's South African correspondent Wednesday — the day the Commonwealth conference in London issued its communiqué on Rhodesia.

Asked whether he has a solution to propose in order to end the dispute, Smith replied:

"Yes, I have, but this is something which unfortunately I cannot say to you at this stage, because this is the subject of confidential negotiations between ourselves and the British government."

The Commonwealth communiqué said if Smith's white minority government does not end its seizure of independence by the end of this year, Britain would seek selective mandatory sanctions through the United Nations.

The interviewee asked Smith whether it is possible to blockade Rhodesia economically. He replied: "Well, Britain has been trying to do this. And now, nearly a year after she tried, it does not look as though she has been very successful."

Smith said Rhodesia is under no obligation to accept any decisions made at the Commonwealth conference as it had not been invited to attend.

"I can't really say that it has created much interest here in Rhodesia," he added.

To Encourage Thant

Reds May Boost UN Peace Fund

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Soviet Union and Hungary soon will make voluntary contributions to ease the United Nations' peacekeeping deficit, Eastern European sources said Friday night.

Hungarian Foreign Minister Janos Peter and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will make successive contributions.

Such actions, observers say, would aim to encourage U.N. Thant to take a second term as secretary-general and to show up the U.S. as the chief obstacle to his doing so.

C-Bomb Ticking

Flying around the conference making sensational headlines, is that Mr. Johnson is pressing an ultimatum.

It was an invitation to Prime Minister Pearson to give his answer.

Is Johnson bluffing?

Despite his statements, he left room for a retreat.

"I have established a certain position from which I still hope we can understand each other and make Canada an interesting country . . .

"I hope that the internal tensions in this country will cease," he added.

LOOKING FORWARD

"I look forward to the day when in Quebec will cease to put all our energies to the solution of the constitutional problem."

After their secret meetings, the federal-provincial delegates at the tax-sharing conference streamed out and feuded in public, at a joint press conference.

Ontario Premier John Roberts rejected Mr. Johnson's demand for a new constitution.

NOT NECESSARY

"As far as re-writing the constitution is concerned," he said, "I don't think it is necessary."

"The British North America Act — Canada's constitution — has functioned well in a hundred years."

The BNA, he said, was flexible and it should be possible to alter it to meet the present situation.

Mr. Roberts pointed out that Ontario had approved the Fulton-Favreau formula for repairing the constitution.

These were the ground rules for amending the BNA when it was repatriated to Canada, but former Quebec premier Jean Lesage cooled on it and his successor, Mr. Johnson, rejected it.

"If we do agree — as a country — that we want to change our constitution, Ontario will take six part in the discussions and will come forward with opinions, ideas and beliefs."

BIT IN DARK

Mr. Roberts said he did not subscribe to the theory that "we tear up the BNA."

Of Mr. Johnson's two-nation policy, Mr. Roberts observed:

"I'm just a little bit in the dark about what is meant by 'two nations'."

Mr. Roberts denied that he had called Mr. Johnson an "extremist."

He had said, he explained, that Mr. Johnson had extreme view in his demands for one hundred per cent of income and corporation taxes and succession duties.

OPPOSITE PURPOSE

Mr. Sharp said he quarreled with Mr. Johnson's view that Ottawa, in its new proposals, is reverting to "paternalism."

The proposals, he said, were put forward for exactly the opposite purpose.

They are intended to make the provinces more self-reliant and more able to carry out their constitutional responsibilities.

Mr. Johnson retorted that it was paternalism.

DOESN'T EXIST

Ottawa, he said, was behaving as if the BNA did not exist.

It was getting into the field of education, a provincial jurisdiction, and he could not recall anyone from Ottawa consulting him about medicare.

"We would like our say about before it's a fait accompli," he added.

MANNING VIEW

Alberta's premier Ernest Manning offered his view on Canada as two nations:

"That question," he said, "hangs on your understanding of what constitutes a nation. My concept of nationhood is a group of people. Without regard to race, culture or language, united to form a single entity."

IF YOU CONCERN IN THAT

premise, it is obvious that the idea of one nation being two nations is completely contradictory."

The two-day conference ended with only a three-paragraph communiqué on what it had done.

They had agreed, the communique stated, to meet again in a few weeks, probably in mid-

Rest May Ease Bursitis Pain

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: What is bursitis? How long does it stay? Is there any way to ease the pain? — S.S.

There are small fluid-filled sacs which nature put around joints as a sort of cushion, to let tendons ride easily. Such a sac is a bursa.

Because of injury or too much continued pressure, a bursa can become inflamed and sore. Sometimes too much fluid then gathers in the bursa. More pain and swelling.

MANY NAMES

Bursitis (inflamed bursa) goes under many names: "Housemaid's knee"; when it develops bursitis in his shoulder and during part of his campaign was unable to shake hands. He lost the election, although I hazard no guess as to whether that was the reason.

How long an attack lasts is rather unpredictable. Some untreated cases become chronic. Some are cleared up in a matter of a few days, but one should be careful not to abuse the joint afterward.

There isn't much you can do by yourself except to rest the irritated joint. If an arm or shoulder is involved, a sling may be the best thing for it. Hot wet compresses can be very helpful.

Your doctor, however, has a number of things he can do for it. A simple pain reliever and rest may be enough in some cases. Injections of various medications, the special hormones (cortisone) being very helpful, often bring prompt relief, after which rest lets Nature do its repair work.

If the bursa is greatly swollen, withdrawing excess fluid by means of a surgical needle is an accepted procedure. Occasionally surgery is required, but this is rarely necessary if the joint has prompt and proper medical attention, and care is taken not to subject it to needless strain or pressure afterward.

War Camp Witch

Clemency Review Ordered for Nazi

MUNICH, West Germany (AP) — Bavarian justice authorities have ordered a review of the case of Ilse Koch, the witch of the Buchenwald concentration camp, to see whether she should be freed from her life term in prison.

The 58-year-old woman, described by survivors of the Nazi camp as a brutal pervert, has been behind bars since the end of the Second World War. A justice ministry spokesman said the clemency review, which comes automatically for all prisoners serving life sentences, is due to begin shortly.

BADIST: The widow of the Buchenwald commander was first sentenced to life by a U.S. court for crimes against humanity. Evidence cited at her trial alleged that she had prisoners killed to make lampshades of their skin, and that she was behind numerous other sadistic crimes committed at the camp.

In 1948, a year after sentence was passed, the term was commuted to four years in prison by the then U.S. military governor, Gen. Lucius D. Clay. She was freed in 1949 from the U.S. war crimes prison at Landsberg but was behind bars in a German jail within 90 minutes.

LIFE PENALTY: In 1951, a German court convicted her of murder and several other counts and sentenced her to the maximum penalty of life. She gave birth to a boy shortly after starting her sentence. The father of the child was never identified.

FRANKFURT (AP) — Three former members of the Auschwitz concentration camp staff were convicted Friday by a West German court of having had a part in mass killings.

Former SS (elite guard) Sgt. Josef Erber, 68, was sentenced to life in prison while former SS Maj. Wilhelm Burger, 63, head of the camp administration, drew an eight-year term and former SS Sgt. Gerhard Neubert, 57, was sentenced to 3½ years.

Presiding Judge Emil Opper said the court would credit Burger for eight years he spent in a Polish war crimes prison.

The court also ordered that Neubert be credited for time spent in confinement. He and Burger both were found guilty of aiding and abetting murder.

Erber, who belonged to the camp's secret police, was convicted of complicity in murder on 70 counts.

Pile of Scientific Data

Astronauts Term Flight 'Absolutely Fantastic'

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 11 pilots returned Friday for a back-slapping reunion with fellow astronauts. They described their three-day space voyage as "absolutely fantastic."

"We certainly answered some unknown questions up there," Gemini 11 command pilot Charles Conrad Jr., told a crowd of 200.

"I only hope the pictures we took at 850 miles (up) are going to be as phenomenal as we think they will be. We got a whole pile of scientific data."

SPACE WALKER:

Gemini 11 space-walker Richard F. Gordon Jr., showing no sign of the physical fatigue which cut short his space stroll, said the record-shattering mission was a lot of fun.

Film with pictures taken by the astronauts in space has been shipped to the spacecraft centre in Houston, Tex. The public is to get its first look today.

Their mission, which began with a perfect launch and first-orbit rendezvous Monday, is considered by project officials as one of the most successful in the U.S. program.

But as a result of problems during space walks on Gemini 11 and previous flights, the work load planned for the astronaut in the future will be considerably reduced, officials said.

The Gemini 11 crew plans to remain until Sunday. After a brief physical examination Friday, they began a series of self-debriefings — talking into tape recorders to record all they remember during their three days aloft.

Monday, they will begin more intensive reviews with project officials, where every phase of their mission is discussed in detail.

Thirty of the horses will be sold at public auction today while all but six will be shipped east for possible use in the RCMP musical ride. Commissioner George B. MacClellan announced last

Indians Seek Change

VANCOUVER (CP) — Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing will be asked to consider sweeping changes in the Federal Indian Act giving tribal councils more power over administration of funds and property.

Delegates to a two-day meeting of the Regional Indian Advisory Council approved resolutions urging changes in the Indian Act. The delegates, elected by tribal councils and bands, represent more than 45,000 Indians throughout B.C. and the Yukon.

NOT AT LIBERTY: "We're not at liberty to say specifically what the changes are that we are recommending, but they are quite substantial," a spokesman for the advisory council said.

The spokesman said the changes deal primarily with property administration and funds, but also touch on such subjects as federal aid to Indian housing, health and welfare and community development.

The recommendations will also be taken to a meeting of the National Indian Advisory Council in Ottawa Sept. 13-23.

Diverging Paths

FROM THE POINT of view of the democracies, recent developments in the Far East tend to encourage optimism rather than discouragement, in spite of the continued tendency towards a military dictatorship in China seen by some observers.

The emergence of the Red Guards movement is another manifestation of the policy of youth indoctrination, so essential in a country still in the process of revolution. It is the sort of predictable symptom of resistance to the inevitable reaction of moderates to any violent political upheaval that the history of revolution teaches, through the days of Lenin and Trotsky and back to Robespierre and beyond.

Peking's admission that powerful members of the Chinese Communist Party had rebelled against the central committee is significant only in the sense that it attempts to explain the Red Guards. It is an excuse for the fanatical rowdiness organized and encouraged by a government which would have the world believe the movement is spontaneous. It is nothing of the sort. It is a carefully calculated campaign designed to send these immature young people among a still largely illiterate peasantry as firebrand leaders of a cult that makes Mao Tse-tung a godhead and his theories gospel.

But elsewhere in the tumultuous East there are more hopeful intimations of returning stability.

The mere fact that 80 per cent of the potential voters in South Viet Nam had the courage to defy the threats of Viet Cong terrorists and go to the polls is encouraging. The people have taken a first bold step towards the establishment of rule by a constituent assembly. It means that the vast majority of the South Vietnamese want no part of communism but hope to follow the democratic road to self-determination and ultimate peace.

Less dramatic, but still gratifying, is the continued swing from radicalism to reason in Indonesia where only 18 months ago President Sukarno still hoped to force Malaysia into a Peking-dominated confederation, using the guerrilla tactics of his mentor, Mao Tse-tung.

The measure of his failure is the announcement that Indonesia has resumed membership in the United Nations' Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East, which Sukarno had contemptuously abandoned.

Within a few days Indonesia will move towards the restoration of its representative to a seat in the United Nations Assembly.

He will be very welcome.

More Than a Hotel

A BOOK IS ABOUT to be written in Victoria, and of a genre to whet the interest of the community and far-flung visitors alike, to wit: a history of the Empress Hotel.

There are stories galore to be told of this stately yet homely hotel that is without rival in all the length and breadth of Canada, and it is good that these should be gathered before they are lost.

For the Empress is more than a hotel; as far as Victoria is concerned it is an institution, part of the warp and woof of this community for half a century and more. The whole of the Greater Victoria area takes pride in its architectural grace and the place it holds in both local affection and as an amenity it scarcely bears thinking about to be without.

Its fame, also, has reached many far corners, so that it becomes a mecca for visitors from all over the world anxious to see it and partake of its services.

It is appropriate in addition that as an extensive renovation and alteration program is about to be initiated—happily confined to interior refashioning and leaving its picturesquely faade untouched, with indeed no diminishing of its character in general—a history of the Empress should be compiled. This history in itself is a reflection of the city of which it is a chief adornment, and Victoria shares with the hotel in the patina which has long since become a hallmark of this area.

The people who have visited or stayed there, VIPs and those of lesser but equally intriguing nature; the events that have taken place within its precincts; its setting and the sequence of its development; its eminence as a hotel; the human tale its walls can echo; these and other facets should provide an arresting and perhaps unique history of value to the local scene.

It is pleasing news therefore that the story of the Empress should be inscribed in the permanent form of indelible print.

One thing more might possibly be suggested as a complement to this projected book; the creation of an archive to contain memorabilia of the hotel—its own collection of historical relics, mementos of personalities it has housed, notable or of special characteristic, pictures and documentary exhibits, and items of interesting appeal which bespeak the influence and wide impact which the Empress Hotel has had ever since its origin in 1908.

These if they can be collected are worth preserving for display while the Empress still lives and continues its sovereign role as a hostelry of renown.

The Mounties

THE DECISION to remove horsemanship from Royal Canadian Mounted Police training has brought from Regina's Mayor Henry Baker the suggestion that the force without horses, except in its famed musical ride, should be called the Royal Canadian Motor Police to preserve at least the initials. Mayor Baker would rather save the horses and thus more of "the tradition and heritage" of the RCMP, but this looks like a rather hopeless cause.

There is no reason actually why the Mounties should cease to be described as mounted: the title doesn't say on what. They still have their mounts, even if the mounts have motors. And besides, Royal Canadian Motor Police would make them sound like a national traffic squad.

But Mayor Baker, and all others who value a splendid name, probably have more to be concerned about than the possible erasure of the "M" from RCMP.

If the present Ottawa pattern prevails, we are more likely to see the name come down to Canada Police, eliminating Royal to suit the anti-monarchist, republican element and using the word Canada instead of Canadian for the same mysterious reason the government employs it elsewhere; for instance in renaming the National Employment Service offices Canada Manpower centres.

And a fine stark name that would be. Scarcely anything could better be devised to strip the RCMP of the aura that has given it such pride of service and respect at home and abroad.

Everybody's Out of Step but Hellyer

Canada's Military Effectiveness Will Wither with Unification

BY ROBERT CAMERON

A UNIFICATION PROGRAM

That is deep in trouble, a timetable that is plagued by political aspirations of the defence minister, and a defence policy that is both highly nationalistic and quite out of step with the times! There, in a nutshell, have you our current defence picture.

Since the Landmores affair, the subject of unification is getting reasonably good coverage in the press. Whether public concern, or indeed parliamentary opposition, will be able to temper Defence Minister Paul Hellyer's plans with reality, is something else again. For on the question of timing, there is a clash between what is good for defence and what is good for Mr. Hellyer.

Prudence demands that he proceed more cautiously and even listen to the military advice of his newly installed team. But political advantage demands that he finish the job he alone can quarterback, by 1967—the year of Canada's Centennial and the year when the leadership of the Liberal Party may be up for grabs.

The third aspect of the current shakeup, and one that warrants a good hard look by the Canadian public, before it is too late to affect the course of events, is conceptual. In modern history Canada's defence policy can be described as one of interdependence. This means that we made no effort to create a comprehensive and powerful military force on our own. We achieved the desired measure of defence by doing what was best suited to our resources, allowing larger partners to fill the gaps. The concept of interdependence was basic to NATO when it was formed. In this spirit we pooled an enormously powerful force of 300 aircraft with the French and Americans, we integrated a very efficient army brigade with two British ones and elements of our navy and the air force specialized in anti-submarine work as part of the overall command in the Atlantic.

In the same time period, the completely integrated North American Air Defence Command was created and interdependence was the pattern in our support of various UN peacekeeping operations.

Mr. Hellyer's assessment of all this when he took over was that Canada had no well-thought defence policy at all. Our dispersion of effort made this abundantly clear. Therefore we had to have something totally different for the future. "Hard-hitting mobile forces for use anywhere in the world" in response to UN requests? This is the type of statement that Hellyer appears to describe the Hellyer defence thinking during protracted studies of our capacity back in 1963.

Judging by the trend of events since 1963 and recent announcements from the front office, what Mr. Hellyer is gradually working around to for Canada's principal effort, is known in the trade as a "balanced force." It will be built around some mobile army units. Last year he offered a battalion to NATO's mobile force in Europe and only recently he chipped in with another.

A substantial increase in the air force capacity is in the mill and two new sea transports have been ordered to "support Canada's mobile force effort."

Presumably, tactical air units will be added when the CF-5 becomes operational. Meanwhile the air division in Europe, the air defence effort in North America are withering on the vine. The minister leaves little doubt that the current anti-submarine contribution by the navy and the air force will share a similar fate.

Husband Rejected

Manslaughter Plea Accepted

HAMILTON (CP) — A Supreme Court jury Friday accepted a McMaster student's plea of guilty to manslaughter in the shooting death July 5 of his wife in their Herkimer Street apartment.

Oliver Robin Charlton, 27, had pleaded not guilty to the non-capital murder of his wife, Tally Ann.

Defence counsel Dennis O'Leary told the court that two months after Charlton married Dec. 5, 1965, his wife told him that she was "emotionally involved" with a man who sat on the board considering job applicants in Montreal for the position she held at her death.

Mr. O'Leary said that since March Charlton's wife had refused to have sexual relations with him and his client felt that he was "in some way inadequate."

"This feeling was bolstered by a prior marriage," said Mr. O'Leary.

He said 27-year-old Tally Ann Charlton kept pressing for divorce and indicated she would be the "guilty" party.

The night of her death, she gained his agreement for a divorce and that he would leave the following week.

"Then she said that she had detected following him and wanted Charlton to be the guilty party. He rebelled and she said she would blackmail him in this regard," said Mr. O'Leary.

"For one-half hour she tormented him and said she had never enjoyed sexual relations with him but had found someone with whom she did enjoy them."

"He finally broke and from that point on, it is a great haze in his memory," Mr. O'Leary said.

Mr. Justice Haines said a verdict of manslaughter gave him the choice whether to sentence the accused for life or an alternative ruling. He told the jury that he recommended a verdict of manslaughter, on the evidence before him. "I think you can reach a verdict without retiring."

The 10 men and two women on the jury conferred for five minutes before jury foreman Anthony Stefanoff said, "There are no dissenters, my Lord, all agree to a manslaughter verdict."

The night of her death, she gained his agreement for a di-

Fifteen Pledge To Fight Unification

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fifteen ex-servicemen from the Vancouver area have joined forces with others across the country to fight unification of Canada's armed forces.

The local group, headed by retired army Colonel D. F. Spankie, doubts whether the unification is in the best interests of the taxpayer.

Spankie said Friday, "We want a full hearing by the House of Commons defence committee before any further changes are made."

TRIO BRANCH — The group, a Tri-Services Identified Organization, had its first meeting Wednesday.

"We're not a pressure group," said Spankie. "We just want to find out first of all what the government's plans are with regard to integration of the armed forces."

He said TRIO is a non-political group which seeks support from servicemen, both active and retired.

CLINTON, Ont. (CP) — Integration and unification of the armed forces mean the same thing and "I believe in the unification process," Dr. K. R. Patrick, president of the Canadian Marigot Ltd., Montreal and commander of the military base here in 1943, said Friday.

CHICAGO ILLINOIS

BUDAPEST, Hungary (Reuters) — The trial of a Canadian citizen and his American wife, charged with attempting to smuggle his East German sister and her husband out of Hungary, began Friday. After a 3½-hour session, it was adjourned to Sept. 29.

The accused are Volker Busser Lemme, 29-year-old student of landscape architecture, and his American wife, Janet Ellen, 23, a laboratory technician, both residents of Seattle, Wash.

Lemme pleaded guilty to having procured Canadian passports under false pretences to smuggle his sister, Birke Manevitz, and her husband, Kurt, out of Hungary via neighboring Yugoslavia last June.

Lemme testified he fled East Germany in 1954 and emigrated to Canada.

Neither his lawyer nor an observer from the Canadian embassy in Prague knew where in Canada he had settled before moving to Seattle.

Both Lemme and his wife will remain in prison until the trial resumes.

The two couples were arrested near the border town of Letesje when Hungarian guards discovered forged stamps in the passports of the refugees which Lemme had obtained in Vienna, Austria.

If found guilty, Lemme faces a prison term between two and eight years for "aiding and abetting attempted frontier crossing of foreign citizens on false passports." The sentence for his wife will depend on ultimate classification of her offence.

Lemme said the whole scheme was his responsibility. He admitted having worked out the plan by mail with his sister and brother-in-law who lived in East Berlin. Mrs. Manevitz, suffering from tuberculosis and a heart disease attempted suicide earlier this year after the death of her 1½-year-old child, he said.

Working on a pre-arranged plan, the Lemmes met the Manevitz couple in Budapest and drove to the Yugoslav border in a rented car.

Stamping into his passport for having a model to go by. With the help of unnamed Canadian friends, he said he obtained two Canadian passports and stamped them with the forged visa marks.

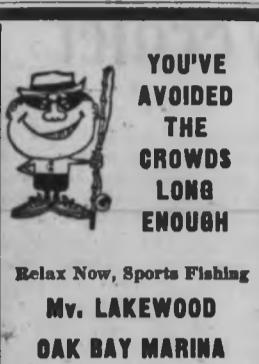

Lemme told the court he investigated Hungarian border-crossing procedures during a short trip he made to obtain a genuine Hungarian visa mark

Verdict

Magistrate J. A. Byers reserved judgment in Sept. 26 in the trial of Douglas Morrison, 1210 Langford, who is charged with dangerous driving.

Morrison was the driver of the car which slammed into three trees on Glen Lake Road June 4. Lee Williams, a passenger in the car, died of injuries.

Defence counsel Rodney Taylor submitted that all the evidence forwarded by the crown, with the exception of the position of the car, was circumstantial.

RATIONAL EXPLANATION
He said Morrison gave a rational explanation for the accident as the first person who came on the scene — that he was forced off the road by an oncoming car and struck a tree.

Prosecutor Cory Stoltz said it was curious that Morrison could give the make, model and color of the car that forced him off the road.

CAB HIT
Magistrate Byers will also deliver judgment on Sept. 26 on a charge of careless driving laid against Morrison.

Dr. Michael Scott-Kerr told court at an earlier hearing that a truck driven by Morrison hit the rear of his car when he stopped for a traffic light on Trans-Canada Highway July 4.

Alfred Pengally, 3915 Carey, was fined $300 and his licence was suspended for three months for impaired driving.

Court was told Pengally's car hit the rear of another stopped for a red light at Burnside and Tillicum July 16.

A drink of beer cost James Brinkman $100.

Brinkman, 258 Plowright, pleaded guilty to consuming liquor in a public place and to supplying liquor to a minor. He was fined $50 on each charge.

TWO BOTTLES
Police found two opened bottles of beer in Brinkman's car Sept. 7 while it was parked in the 500-block Selkirk.

Brinkman said he gave a bottle of beer to an 18-year-old companion.

Securities'
Accountant Appointed

The appointment of Earl T. Jewitt as audit accountant in the B.C. securities branch was announced Friday by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

Mr. Jewitt, formerly controller with the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in Toronto, will do the accounting in the securities office, with particular emphasis on the examining of prospectuses.

The new position which he filled earlier this month, was authorized in the departmental estimates at the last session of the legislature.

Names in the News

Cancer Claims Salesman Once Thought to Be Dead

OMAHA — John (Fritz) Johnson, 39, Omaha television personality revealed last year to be a long-missing Ohio salesman who had been declared legally dead, has died of cancer. His secret died with him.

He died as Johnson. His attorney said he would be buried in Ohio as Lawrence (Larry) Bader.

Only Johnson could say for sure whether he recalled a past life as Bader, an Akron kitchenware salesman who disappeared while on a fishing trip on Lake Erie in 1957.

To the end, Johnson denied any knowledge of his life as Bader, though he accepted — after positive fingerprint identification — that he was the "inescapable conclusion" that he was the former Ohioan.

LONDON — Mandy Rice-Davies, 21, the blonde in the Profumo scandal that rocked Britain in 1963, will shortly marry an Israeli airline steward, Raphael Shani, 26, whose family owns a chain of discotheques in Israel. They met earlier this year when she sang in a Tel Aviv night club. "One night I got something in my eye and he got it out for me," she said. "And things developed from there."

HOLLYWOOD — Actress Jane Wyman has been taken to hospital with what her doctor diagnosed as an acute inflammation of the pancreas.

ATLANTA — Black Power advocate Stokely Carmichael, free from jail on $1,000 bond, said there will be demonstrations as long as there are injustices and "Atlanta might as well get used to it." He is accused of starting Atlanta's worst race riot in modern times.

OTTAWA — Former Finance Minister Walter Gordon has urged the federal government to adopt a "tough line" with the provinces in the fight over tax fields. He said that the federal government alone must decide which tax fields it should cultivate and which it will leave to the provinces.

MONTRÉAL — Eric Kierans, former Quebec health minister in the Lévesque government, has announced that he will seek the post of president of the Quebec Liberal Federation at its annual convention here Nov. 18.

They Want Mickey Out

Highways' 'Dozer Creates Poser

GENEVA, B.C. (CP) — Carpenter Mickey Kalmakoff didn't need to be hit on the head before he realized someone wanted his home out of the way.

Unfortunately, the B.C. highways department neglected to tell the 45-year-old resident of this tiny Kootenay village that they planned to route a portion of highway through his house.

He got the hint when the bulldozer pushed the road to within 20 yards of either side of his house.

Now the bungalow sits like a barrier in the road which runs behind the village on the highway between Cranbrook and Trail. The new portion of highway is being built to eliminate dangerous curves in the old highway.

Mr. Kalmakoff was tight-lipped, but angry about the possibility of having to move the bungalow in which he had planned to retire.

While Mr. Kalmakoff polished his car and his wife weeds their garden on the half-

GLASTONBURY, England — You wet Glastonbury driving north from the moors of the Dart and the Ex toward windy Bristol Channel. There's a ruined Abbey here — the gray skeleton of walls and arches that must have been.

In the late 13th century, Edward I came down here and discovered the graves of King Arthur and Queen Guinevere. And when you walk on the clipped lawns with the channel wind moaning through the empty walls, you can see the gravity well-marked.

There's a good pub across the street. A coal fire and a hearty country lunch.

"Do you bargain in shops in Japan?"

No. If you want to try cutting prices, try the discount houses. But in all other parts of the Orient — except in big department stores — it's customary to bargain.

"Where do we get the best price on watches in Switzerland?"

This is such a vital part of Swiss economy, they regulate quality and prices. All "name brand" watches are sold at one price. For friends I usually buy a "house" watch — one with the name of the selling firm on it. They style them themselves. Big houses are Turtur, Bucherer and Gubelin with retail stores in all cities and resorts.

"What is the correct dress for women on a cruise ship the first night?"

The rule on ships is no dress up first night out and last night before landing. And wear flat shoes. You aren't used to the ship motion. You could have a bad fall on high heels.

The first day out go down to the beauty shop and make ALL your hair appointments for the whole cruise. The rush comes on the night of the Captain's dinner and the fancy dress ball. EVERYbody wants her hair done right.

"Is there some place in Mexico where you might see bullfighters after the bull-fight? Like a restaurant?"

Last time I was in Mexico they seemed to be hanging around the bar in the Prince Hotel. Just off Avenida Juarez on Luis Moya Street. But maybe these places change. ANY taxi driver can take you to the current hot spot.

"We will be in Acapulco at Christmas. The hotel puts liquor in your room. But we've heard Mexican liquor is lethal..."

You are at Las Brisas, right? They don't put tequila in your room unless you request it. You get half bottle of gin, Scotch and so on. Pay for what you break open.

Tequila is not the firewater you hear it is. Here's how to

Lord Nelson's Head Returns to Dublin

DUBLIN (AP) — Lord Nelson's granite head is back where it belongs — in Dublin.

The 220-pound head of the English admiral was smuggled out of Ireland after the Nelson Monument in the heart of Dublin was blown up by Irish extremists last March. It later turned up in a London antique shop.

This week antique dealer Benny Gray handed the head back to a Dublin official in a ceremony at the spot where the 134-foot monument once stood. "After all the moaning there was when it originally went, no one seemed to want it when we brought it back," Gray said.

This is Palma, the famed resort on Mediterranean island of Majorca. It attracted more than 1,000,000 visitors last year.

Sun-Kissed Isle Booming

Old Majorca Becomes New Popular Playground

PALMA, Isle of Majorca (CNS) — This island in the Mediterranean, where members of the Spanish nobility once had palaces by the dozen, now is Europe's most popular vacation playground.

Sixty miles long by 40 wide, it has picturesque little bays and inlets, calm seas and a year-around mild temperature.

The island, properly known as Majorca, produces wine, oil, cereals, figs, oranges and other fruits in abundance. There are many mineral springs. There is known variously as "Island of Olives," "Golden Isle" and "Pearl of the Mediterranean."

With Minorca and Ibiza, Majorca makes up the group of islands off the coast of Spain known as the Balearics. For each inhabitant of the Balearics, two tourists arrived last year — 1,080,226 of them, spending a total of $133,000,000.

To cope with the holiday traffic, the Balearic islands now have 1,284 hotels. There are beds for 67,588 persons, more than 58,000 of these on the island of Majorca.

Last year a new hotel was opened on the three islands every two days.

Originally, this sun-kissed isle was probed by the Moors. It was later conquered, toward the close of the 13th century, by Jaime of Aragon.

The tourist can visit many of the subterranean caves, some of the best examples of their kind in Europe.

Majorca takes great pride in its magnificent 13th century cathedral, built on the site of a Moslem mosque, and rising in no mere repository of ancient history.

Take a nice, easygoing round trip to the South Pacific this winter. You can go first class all the way with P&O for $1382.

Sail to Australia. Poke around. Sail back. Visit Hawaii, Fiji and New Zealand on the way. Leave in December, January or February.

These South Pacific round trips to Australia offer you a chance to visit some of the last unspoiled lands of the world. And to do it at a leisurely pace. You'll have from 4 to 21 days in Australia on your way back to the States.

Take Oriana in December — you'll have 4 days Down Under before sailing home. Or Arcadia in January which gives you 21 days in Australia. The choice is yours.

Your first stops will be California, Hawaii and the Fiji Islands. Then on to New Zealand, where you can follow a glacier right into the middle of a sub-tropical jungle! When you reach Australia, you can take a comprehensive tour arranged by your travel agent, or just do it on your own. Shop for opals and Aboriginal art. Meet the people, the friendliest in the world. Or turn back the clock to Wild West days and visit the Outback.

32 sun-filled days at sea. You'll be sailing on the "biggest bloomin' ships sailing the seven seas." Each is completely air-conditioned and has acres of open deck for sunning, swimming and deck sports. Plus more things to do at night than you'd find in most fair-sized towns. And to keep things easygoing, P&O provides a crewman for every two passengers!

Clip coupon for free illustrated brochure. First sailing from Vancouver December 12. From $1382 first class for the round trip.

All fares in U.S. currency.

Sandown Goes Today With Colonist Event

A total of 10 entries, headed by Pernano, the favorite, is eligible for this afternoon's Colonist Handicap as the Victoria racing season begins at Sandown Park.

The Colonist event last year was won by Prince Scorpion over 6½ furlongs. This year's race, the seventh on today's card, will be a mile and 70 yards.

Quinella betting is scheduled for the first and eighth races and exacto on the fourth. Post time is 2 p.m. and the handicap is on Page 13.

Speaking Briefly

Prize Pair For Denver

Seattle may have beaten Tulsa for the Pacific Coast League baseball championship, but Denver and Indianapolis players won the three major individual awards announced Friday.

Indianapolis catcher Duane Josephson, whose .324 average was third best in the league, was chosen by PCL baseball writers and broadcasters as the most valuable player. Denver outfielder Rich Reese, 25, was picked as the rookie of the year. His .327 average was second to Walt Williams of Tulsa.

And Jim Ollom of Denver, the first PCL pitcher to win 20 games since San Francisco's Leo Kiely in 1957, was picked as the outstanding hurler. Ollom, now with Minnesota Twins, had a 20-8 record and 3.43 earned run average.

For just a moment Friday, Arnold Palmer's name was added to the list of entrants in the Canadian Open at Shaughnessy's seaside layout in Vancouver Sept. 29-Oct. 2.

But then, a story quoting Palmer as saying he'd given up another golf commitment was corrected to say he'll live up to the commitment after all. He'll be the only one of the top 10 money golfers missing in the event.

In all, 44 of the leading 50 will attend, plus entertainers Bing Crosby, Phil Harris, Fred MacMurray, Dean Martin, Andy Williams, Jim Backus and Bob Sterling, and tennis player Jack Kramer.

Bob Goalby charged ahead in the Portland open, firing his second straight five-under-par 67 for a one-stroke lead after 36 holes. Close behind in the $50,000 event was Pete Brown, also a first-round leader, who followed his opening 67 with a 68 for 135.

Defending champ Jack Nicklaus, winner at Portland in three of the last four years, fell out of contention after playing another round in par. Billy Casper had 67-71-138.

Eight new members will be inducted into the professional football hall of fame in Canton, Ohio.

They are Steve Owen, coach of the New York Giants; Toronto Argos, Calgary Stampeders and Saskatchewan Roughriders; Sherry Ray, National Football League technical advisor; Walt Kiesling, former coach of Pittsburgh; Joe Guyon of the Giants; Arnie Herber of the Giants and Green Bay Packers; Bulldog Turner of Chicago Bears; Bill Dudley of the Steelers, Detroit Lions and Washington Redskins, and George McAfee of the Bears. This brings the total membership to 33.

Cooke Gilchrist has made it clear he wants to stay in the American Football League and will play for anybody but Denver Broncos, with whom he is having a salary dispute.

Said Cooke: "I'm not a bad guy. I've been given a bad image. I want to play and I can be in shape in three days. But I'll never play for Denver."

Football claimed another fatality when Michael Keller, 15, died in Rockville Centre, N.Y., following a high school practice. Keller complained his head hurt after he made a tackle, then left the football field and fell unconscious.

Stewards at Calgary's Victoria Park race track have recommended a life suspension for owner Wayne Douglas Wise, 23. An investigation showed Wise had a splicer, a device used to stimulate horses. The stewards recommended a two-year suspension for Jockey Norman David Jewell.

In other sports, Canadian heavyweight champion George Chuvalo knocked out Bob Avery of Tucson in the second round of a scheduled 10-round bout in Edmonton. A. E. Lathers of Stamford, Conn., won the U.S. yacht championship by taking the fifth and final race of the International 5.5-metre yacht competition at Stamford.

Skrien Worried

Four Lions Go Despite the Flu

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dave Skrien is worried — four of his top players have intestinal flu. Joe Kapp, Pat Claridge, Jim Carpin and Tom Brown will be dressed for today's game against the Ottawa Roughriders, said Skrien today, but he feels they won't be operating efficiently.

"There's always a strength factor," he said. "After a bout with flu, a person is usually weak as a kitten."

ONE ON TELEVISION

Three other games are scheduled in the CFL this weekend. Today, Montreal is at Hamilton and Winnipeg visits Calgary. Sunday, Toronto plays at Regina in a CTV game — the only one of the four games on regular television.

Calgary is still suffering from the flus which have crippled the club and held it to only one win this season.

LIKELY EAGLE

And Eagle Day, the out-of-towners who were picked up by Toronto, would like to make the Stampeders look a little worse. Day led the Argos to a win over Edmonton last week, and will likely be used early in Sunday's game.

Two Western Conference clubs announced trials for more imports.

Calgary Stampeders are trying out 220-pound Bob Leckie and offensive guard from Arizona State. Defensive end George Carr has been placed on waivers to make room.

Edmonton has two new faces in halfback Frank Harris, 22, of Long Beach State College in California, and eighth end Bob Jenkins, 24, from Atlanta Falcons of the National Football League.

Season Starts Sunday

O'Keeffes Want Revenge

It's not really a vendetta Vancouver. And it was an interesting final. O'Keeffes had one goal disallowed and a player sent off for a too-vigorous protest.

With the first two games against the talented Italian club, O'Keeffes can pick up a little revenge and establish themselves as one of the teams to beat in the eight-club league.

O'Keeffes have a four-man Alberta contingent this season:

goalie Barry Sadler and new comers Tom Westwater, Jim Menzies and Ed Carson work in Alberta and will travel to Victoria for games.

Westwater is a winger who played with St. Johnstone and Cowdenbeath in Scotland. Westwater is a wing-half and Carson a winger or inside forward. Both are from Scotland.

George Paul, in his eighth season with the PCSL club, Bill Hamilton and Westwater will likely be at halfback. Menzies, Ike Mackay, Jim Schulz, Peter Brett, a newcomer from the University of Birmingham, and Duncan McCraig will be the forwards.

Geoff Sweet, a new signing from Calgary Kickers, Carson, Martin, Taylor and McIntosh are the other members of O'Keeffes' 15-man senior pool.

The club can also draw from the ranks of its junior team.

The Victoria Juniors play an exhibition game Sunday morning at 11 at Cernarvon Park against Canadian Scottish.

Waitress Bites Back With Lion Lawsuit

VANCOUVER (CP) — Waitress Paulette Russell put the A. Drozdik, claims "general and special damages for personal injuries sustained by the plaintiff as a result of the deliberate and malicious actions of the defendant, resulting in injuries to the right lower dorsal region of the plaintiff, causing her emotional upset and embarrassment."

The college student claimed Reache bit her on the posterior while she was waiting on a group of football players at a local beer parlor where she works as a part-time waitress. The suit, filed in B.C. Superior Court by lawyer Charles Paulette Russell put the A. Drozdik, claims "general and special damages for personal injuries sustained by the plaintiff as a result of the deliberate and malicious actions of the defendant, resulting in injuries to the right lower dorsal region of the plaintiff, causing her emotional upset and embarrassment."

Miss Russell said earlier this week that Reache bit her after a number of football players bet a total of $50 that he wouldn't do it.

Reache denied that.

Golf Results

T. Munro won the silver division championship in the Victoria Golf Club's women's par competition by finishing two down. M. Munro took the bronze at all square.

J. Chapman and J. Dyer tied for the extra-day competition silver championship with 30 points each.

I thought for a moment I had found a disciple for a lifelong campaign of mine when I read a headline that proclaimed: "Round in 20 minutes."

Sure enough the game was golf and the course was a man-sized one of 18 holes. And, indeed, the ball had been propelled from first tee to last hole, with no norms cut, in exactly 50 seconds over 20 minutes.

The snag, of course, was that it had taken a team of men to perform the feat. Rugger players from Yorkshire they were, doubtless getting fit for the coming season.

A tour the first tee shot and then raced to the second green to putt out. B hit the approach shot to the first.

No Right to Abuse

Unless this fellow Kelso from Kenya takes to golf I doubt whether that record will ever be beaten. Richardson, at the time, was a South African Olympian athlete.

He didn't pretend, of course, he was actually enjoying it. Golf, unless you're playing it to reduce your overraft, is meant to be savored. But that doesn't mean to say it gives a man the right to abuse his fellow members' patience.

I have complained in the past of how the big professional tournaments were being reduced to slow motion by the field becoming snarled up into an ill-tempered traffic jam behind some pedestrian player dithering over his game.

There have been times in my own career when I could

Positively Indecent

There's little doubt where the rabbits caught the habit. They shut themselves in darkened rooms at home to watch the big shots on television and emerge, convinced beyond argument, that anything short of four hours over a round is positively indecent.

Let's get one thing straight right away: slow golf, in itself, isn't, never has been and never will be a virtue.

It neither improves your play nor steadies your game. All it effectively does, if you take your golf that seriously, is to demand your concentration for anything up to two hours more than you need. It's false economy.

I'm not advocating hack-and-hit methods though I myself have played a tournament

Punch Punches At Soft Spots

PETERBOROUGH — Punch Imbach is unhappy. Again.

After forbidding the mention of renegade defenceman Carl Brewer's name at Toronto Maple Leafs' hockey training camp, Imbach was told Friday by club doctor Hugh Smythe the Toronto players are soft.

"Well," said Imbach, "we shall remedy that situation in a hurry." Then he increased the daily practice sessions from 75 minutes to 90 minutes.

Imbach also said players violating the 11 p.m. curfew would be sent to the training camps of farm teams.

EQUAL CHANCE

"I want you to know that all of you have an equal chance of making the big team," he told the 62 players at camp. "Nobody has a reserved spot."

Imbach's assistant King Clancy said Billy McNeill, picked up from Vancouver Canucks of the Western Hockey League, appears to have the best chance of making the Toronto team.

CLOTHES STOLEN

Right behind Imbach in the slow-and-growl department was forward Pete Stenkowski. He had most of his clothes stolen from the back seat of his car after driving from Wainright.

Then there was left winger Andre Champagne, 22, who was found to have infectious mononucleosis and was ordered back to Toronto for treatment.

Season's End For Cricket

Two matches this weekend will wind up the 1966 Victoria cricket season.

This afternoon at Beacon Hill, Cowichan of the Victoria and District Cricket Association will play Pitt Meadows for possession of the Tomalin Cup, an annual competition between the winners of the Victoria and Mainland leagues.

On Sunday at Beacon Hill, a combined Oak Bay-Alcos team will play a combined XI from Albion and Castaways. Both matches will start at 1:30 p.m.

Times Roasts B.C. Referee

LONDON (UPI) — Possibly the most scathing comment made in a British newspaper recently on a sports judge appeared in the London Times Friday in its own rugby correspondent's account of the game between the B.C. All-Stars and the British Lions touring team last Wednesday.

The correspondent wrote: "One felt, too, that they were playing against the referee as much as British Columbia. It is unpleasant to have to say this, but it would be dishonest to ignore it."

"Some of his decisions would almost have to be interpreted as physical obstruction, forward passes and offside, perhaps an optician."

Guest Takes Pulpit

A former moderator of The Presbyterian Church in Canada — Rev. Dr. W. Gordon MacLean of Winnipeg — will be guest preacher at special centenary services Sunday in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Both Sunday services will honor the church's 100th anniversary.

The minister, Rev. Dr. J. Lewis W. McLean, will conduct the services. Dr. MacLean will preach at both services.

FROM SCOTLAND

The former moderator from minister of First Presbyterian Church in Winnipeg from 1931 until his retirement in 1962.

He came to Canada from

was moderator of the church in 1946.

Dr. MacLean served as chaplain with Allenby's expeditionary force in the Middle East in the First World War.

He was territorial chaplain in Scotland for the 9th Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders.

In Canada, from 1932 he acted as military chaplain with the Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders.

SENIOR CHAPLAIN

He went overseas as senior chaplain with the Canadian second division in May, 1940.

Special music for the 100th anniversary services Sunday will include Hymn of Gratitude, a solo by Eleanor Duff, the anthem Gloria In Excelsis with soloists Kay Paulin, G. Harper, J. Bell and D. Conrad, and, in the evening, the anthem O Praise Ye The Lord.

A congregational banquet will be held in the auditorium Tuesday night at 6:30.

Congregation Honors Departing Minister

Congregation of Central Baptist Church, 833 Pandora, turned out to say good-bye to Rev. and Mrs. Robert D. Holmes, who have left for new post with Temple Baptist Church in Sarnia.

At Harbour Light

Alcoholism Increase Brings Space Need

The incidence of alcoholism in Victoria is increasing and the Salvation Army's Harbour Light rehabilitation centre, which has been in operation for 10 years, is looking for room to expand.

"Truly the need is great," said Capt. Bert Morgan, manager of the centre, "and we are dedicated to meet that need to the fullest extent of our ministry."

He said plans are underway to purchase an adjacent building for expansion.

HUNDREDS AIDED

During the past 10 years, hundreds of men have been helped to find the road to recovery and have returned to a normal and healthy way of life.

Capt. Morgan said the centre has worked out a treatment program that is getting results.

"We take full advantage of every facility that science offers," he said, "including medical attention and regular counselling."

"There is a therapeutic design in all the planning of diet, rest, work and recreation, to meet the physical, mental, social and spiritual needs of the individuals concerned."

He said a good diet, work program, social activities, group and personal counselling are all geared to guide the client into a new way of life where he is able to become a self-supporting and respected member of the community.

WHOLE MAN

"Truly, we of the Army are interested in the whole man and the emphasis upon the spiritual need makes the program unique. The army officer never forgets the importance of the saving and integrating power to be found in a personal experience of the redeeming love of Christ."

BIG NEED

"There is an increasing need for rehabilitation services," he said. "As the drinking ratio increases, the number of alcoholics will naturally increase and all community effort possible must be gauged to meet this need."

The Salvation Army is planning opening of more facilities across Canada.

OVER CAPACITY

"We hope to expand as soon as possible here in Victoria to meet the need."

The captain said he was surprised at the incidence of alcoholism here.

"We have been working over capacity throughout the summer," he said.

The Church And World At Banff

The 12th annual Banff conference for United Church men will be held Oct. 14, 15 and 16 in the Banff School of Fine Arts.

Theme of the conference is The Church and The World. Main speaker is Rev. John R. Leng, executive co-ordinator of the division of congregations, life and work of the church.

"We have been working over capacity throughout the summer," he said.

Archbishop Sexton Considering Retirement Soon

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Toews at Bible School

Jehovah's WitnessesCouple to Trinidad

Two Jehovah's Witnesses from Victoria have just completed a five-month course in Bible instruction and missionary training in New York City and are leaving to take an assignment in Trinidad.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Toews have been studying at the Watchtower Bible School of Gilead. Mrs. Toews is the former Gay Velacott, daughter of Mrs. F. R. Velacott of 338 Michigan.

One of more than 80 lectures they hear, entitled Neutrality and Problems Connected with This, contained practical principles of peace that a missionary can follow to maintain a peaceful position in a war-torn world.

This instruction was shared by a class of 106 selected ministers of Jehovah's Witnesses who gathered from 13 countries around the world and are now equipped to take their mission of peace to the 36 different lands to which they are assigned.

The course included a chapter-by-chapter study of the entire Bible, the relation of world history to the history of the Bible as well as Bible-teaching techniques. Intensive instruction was given to students in one of the following languages—Spanish, French, Portuguese, Japanese or Chinese.

PRINTING PLANTS
Students were also given an opportunity to study and participate in the U.S. branch's supervision of its 5,240 congregations and 356 travelling ministerial supervisors in addition to sharing in the operation of the society's printing plants.

The entire student body participated in the production of the year's output of 16,408,128 Bibles and study aids as well as 141,412,715 copies of the society's two magazines, The Watchtower and Awake.

"It was most impressive," said Mr. Toews, "to observe the force for peace that the Bible exerted in our close association with so many different nationalities and cultural backgrounds."

"We always enjoyed mutual understanding and peace with our fellow students and this emphasized to me that the nations of the world could peacefully co-exist if the teachings of the Bible were only followed."

For Anglican CommunityArchbishop, Bishop Coming Here Soon

Canterbury

Vockler

MORNING ARRIVAL

He will arrive on the morning of Sept. 28 and will be accompanied by Mrs. Ramsey and the Rev. John Andrew, his principal chaplain.

He will make only one public appearance, at a special diocesan service at 3 p.m. in Christ Church Cathedral.

Archbishop Sexton said all seats will be available without ticket for the service. There will be accommodation for an overflow in the parish hall.

EVENING DEPARTURE

The archbishop will return to Vancouver the evening of Sept. 28.

The Anglican bishop with the largest diocese in area in the world—John Charles Vockler, Bishop of Polynesia—will visit Victoria Oct. 1.

He will attend a lunch hour conference at the University of Victoria Oct. 6 and that evening will be principal speaker at a mass rally in Nansimo.

He will be present at chapter meeting Oct. 7 of the clergy of the Victoria and Saanich Deanseries. An afternoon meeting the same day will enable him to meet some of the women of the diocese and a supper meeting for men will be held that evening.

AN AUSTRALIAN

Bishop Vockler is an Australian.

He graduated from the University of Queensland and also studied at the General Theological Seminary in New York City. He served on the staff of the Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine in New York.

An historical scholar and liturgical expert, he is the author of several books. He was a delegate to the Minneapolis Congress in 1954 and a preacher at the Missionary Rally at the Anglican Congress in Toronto three years ago.

He was consecrated Bishop Coadjutor of Adelaide in 1959 and was translated to the missionary diocese of Polynesia four years ago.

The diocese—11,000 square miles in size—contains the Fiji, Gilbert and Ellice

Islands, all British colonies. It also contains Tonga, a self-governing kingdom; Western Samoa, now independent, and Tahiti, which is French.

The coin of his diocese is British, New Zealand, Australian, American and French. There are many languages and many religions.

The bishop, who has his headquarters in Suva, Fiji, recently wrote: "Here in Fiji we live surrounded with Hindu temples, Dala temples, Mosques of Islam and there are living faiths. Every Hindu house has its own shrine, where people offer their daily sacrifices at the beginning of the day."

"Every Hindu house has its flag flying in honor of the Hindu gods. Every Islam house has its Koran, men take their places in the mosque each Friday, and keep the fast Friday. The feasts of Hinduism go on all around us, and it is in this context that we seek to proclaim the Gospel."

The inter-church courses are sponsored by the committees on Evangelism, the Victoria Council of churches and the Anglican diocesan board of religious education.

Play ScheduledAt First United

The Covenant Players of First United Church will present a play, The Prototype, as part of the evening worship service at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

The play, written by Stuart B. Jackson, deals with the raising of Lazarus from the grave by Christ and the reaction of Mary and Martha. The play deals with humor, drama and worship in a unique combination.

Acting in the production are Rayenne Squires, Janette Dutton.

The Prototype will be presented again at 8:15 p.m. next Friday and Saturday. Admission is 50 cents for students, 75 cents for adults.

All performances will take place in the Covenant Theatre below the Sanctuary of the church. Entrance is off Belmore Road.

The play, written by Stuart B. Jackson, deals with the raising of Lazarus from the grave by Christ and the reaction of Mary and Martha. The play deals with humor, drama and worship in a unique combination.

Acting in the production are Rayenne Squires, Janette Dutton.

In City ChurchesBattle of Britain Sunday Marked by Services

Battle of Britain Sunday will be observed tomorrow with several ceremonies in the Greater Victoria area.

The RCAF Association's 800 Pacific Wing will parade to the Cenotaph at the Inner Harbour for a wreath-laying ceremony at 10 a.m. Sunday.

The battle will be commemorated by the cadets and staff of Canadian Services College, Royal Roads, at a church parade at 11 a.m. in St. Peter's (Naval) Church, Belmont Park. The service will be conducted by Chaplain W. B. Taylor and the sermon will be preached by Chaplain H. I. Hale. The lessons will be read by Group Capt. D. B. Wurster and Fr. Lieut. J. Fournier.

The Air Force Officer's Association of Vancouver Island is again sponsoring a commemorative service of remembrance at 3 p.m. in Christ Church Cathedral.

The service will be non-denominational.

Strange music and strange sights from the city gate of Taiping through Hong Kong to Manila will be supplied by Ethel Moorehouse in a colored slide and tape recorder lecture at the Alliance Church, 1039 Yates, at 7 p.m. Sunday.

Miss Moorehouse is a graduate of Royal Jubilee Hospital and Canadian Bible College, who is working in the Philippines Islands mission field under the Christian and Missionary Alliance.

At the 11 a.m. service, the pastor Rev. Ted Chapman will preach.

Vancouver Island Christian Science church congregations will hear a lesson-lesson on Mattie this Sunday.

The Golden Text is from Jeremiah: "Truly in vain is salvation hoped for from the hills, and from the multitude of mountains: truly in the Lord our God is the salvation of Israel."

The following passages will be read from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy.

"Nothing we can say or believe regarding matter is immortal, matter is temporal and is therefore mortal phenomenon, a human concept, sometimes beautiful, always erroneous."

The crude creation of mortal thought may finally give place to the glorious forms which we sometimes behold in the cameras of divine Mind, when the mental picture is spiritual and eternal."

At Central Baptist Church, the guest speaker will be Rev. W. O. McKee, pastor of Grace Baptist Church in Hope, B.C.

His topic for the morning service will be "The Divine Challenge and at 7 p.m. he will preach on The Divine Fiat.

Sunday school attendance, which has continued through the summer, reached 422 last Sunday, an all-time high. Adults and children are invited to attend the school. A nursery is available with a registered nurse in charge.

The United Church Women of Metropolitan Church will hold a rally service of witness in the church at 11 a.m. Sunday. Miss Jessie C. MacLeod, associate director secretary of the Christian Education Committee of the B.C. conference will be here from Vancouver. She will preach a sermon on Holy Ground. Mrs. Dawn Benoit will be soloist.

At the 7:30 p.m. service, to be broadcast over CJVI, Rev. Albert E. King will speak on A Good Deal.

Dr. Emma M. Smiley will speak on Punishing the Water at the 11 a.m. service in the Victoria Truth Centre this Sunday. Her 7:30 p.m. sermon will be on Prayer Therapy.

The sermon topic of Laverne R. Krenzler, pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, Pandora and Vancouver, at the 11 a.m. service today is An Ordinance of Love. The pastor will administer at the Lord's Supper and the Ordinance of Humility will be observed.

At 7:30 p.m. today the Missionary Volunteers Society,

the dynamic drama of the fall in three 10-session programs in St. David By The Sea fellowship Hall, 5182 Cordova Bay Road. Weekly sessions begin at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, 7:45 p.m. Monday and 10 a.m. Wednesday. They last for two hours and are open to clergy and lay people of Greater Victoria.

The church, which is open to all, is located in the Victoria area and the Anglican diocese contributes substantially to the diocese of Polynesia.

The church courses are sponsored by the committees on Evangelism, the Victoria Council of churches and the Anglican diocesan board of religious education.

Alliance Official To Visit

The general secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, Rev. A. S. McGrath of Toronto, will visit Victoria next weekend.

He will confer with leaders in the community and with the clergy in a meeting at Metropolitan United Church the evening of Sept. 26.

The meeting is under the joint auspices of the Victoria Council of Churches and the Religion Labor Council.

He will speak in St. Aidan's United Church the morning of Sept. 25.

Mr. McGrath will also talk to provincial government representatives in connection with Sunday observance.

under the direction of G. K. Walton, will sponsor a film lecture by Mr. and Mrs. R. Housman of Durban, South Africa.

The 14-hour film was shot in the southern part of Africa and will include pictures of general scenery, urban and country life, the natives, wild animals and birds.

The public is invited to the showing.

Leadership and Bible training will be next week's highlight at Parkdale Evangelical Free Church, 3281 Harriet.

The Sunday school teaching staff, which is being increased from eight to 15, will take a week-long program of instruction prior to the fall session of teaching.

At First Baptist Church, Rev. John A. Watson will focus attention on the theme, The Struggles of Life, and the resources that are available in order that we may be conquerors.

"The mental, moral and physical resources that are demanded in an age such as this are terrific," Mr. Watson said.

Evening worship will centre on the theme A Privilege and a Responsibility, considered in the light of God's word, the teaching ministry of the church.

There will be a dedication service of the leaders in the education program of the church.

At Stevenson and Emmanuel Baptist Church, Sunday morning, Rev. Norman K. Archer will begin a new series of 10 sermons based on the text from Hebrews 6:9. It will be titled Things That Accompany Salvation.

Each sermon will examine one of the great words of the Christian faith, the first being Redemption. In this sermon the ancient practice of ransom from slavery will be used to describe salvation.

The joint evening service at Emmanuel will be conducted by the young people of the congregation. During the evening a report of the Baptist Union Young People's convention will be heard and a representative of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship will speak.

U-Boat
Hope
Gone

HAMBURG (AP)—The West German Navy gave up hope Friday of finding more survivors from the U-boat Hai and an inquest was opened to determine whether criminal negligence was involved in its sinking.

Only one member of the 20-man crew was rescued after the small training sub sank Wednesday night in a gale.

SURFACE TRIP

The sub, one of the last U-boats built by Germany in the Second World War, had been on a surface trip to Aberdeen, Scotland, with four other German naval vessels.

A spokesman said no one would have been able to survive in the stormy North Sea for more than 48 hours, nor was it likely that anyone was left alive aboard the sunken sub.

SLICK SEEN

Other sources said that although an oil slick had been sighted, the wreck itself had not been located. A German salvage ship is on the scene and hopes to begin recovery operations today, if weather permits.

The survivor, Petty Officer Peter Silbernagel, 23, was picked up Thursday by a British trawler after drifting 12½ hours in the North Sea.

Search vessels have recovered the bodies of seven other men and 12 of the 20-man crew still are missing.

Detroit Hopeful

Safety First
But Cars
Add Power

DETROIT (AP)—All the talk was about auto safety, but the trend was to bigger and faster cars—and probably higher prices—as the auto industry wound up Friday in its biggest week of showing off the 1967 models to the press.

In settings that ranged from a Hollywood studio to a Canadian horse track, the industry paraded its wares amid optimism that safety features would reverse a slight dip in 1966 sales blamed by some on adverse publicity during auto safety hearings in Washington.

BRIGHTER OUTLOOK

This attitude of Detroit's top auto executives was in contrast to the gloom that hung over the industry during the hearings last spring.

Along with inclusion of such safety features as collapsible steering columns and dual brakes, on virtually every new model there is an obvious trend to bigger and faster cars.

But the industry's spokesmen didn't do any boasting about it.

PRICES UP?

They didn't do any talking about prices, either. But the speculation is that added safety features will force prices up $50 to $100 depending on the size of the car.

From a styling standpoint, most of the 1967s are almost identical with the 1966 models. Most safety features are out of sight.

Higher Limit
Creating Dropouts?

Saunders school board wants the department of education to lower from 16 to 14 the age at which youngsters can start apprenticeship training.

The board also is suggesting that the department allow students to begin vocational training in schools at the Grade 8 level, instead of Grade 10.

The suggestion for lowering the age for apprentices was made by trustee Reg Clarke, who said students who are anxious to start their apprenticeships early are frustrated by being kept in school.

He said many lose interest in their coursework, with the result that they drop out of school.

Saanich Rebuff

Has Eaton's Given Up?

By JOHN MATTERS

Saanich council has twice rebuffed recommendations of its planning authority in rejecting Eaton's plans for a warehouse and retail complex in the municipal park.

Eaton's has made two bids to build the centre on the east side of the 800 block Seymour, behind Town and Country shopping centre.

The answers: No, no.

Opponents to the plan say it will open the door to turning what could be a downtown area into a warehouse district.

TRUCK DEPOT

They fear it will become a truck depot in a residential district.

The proponents say it will bring to Saanich what the municipality has been needing for a long time — a light industry which would broaden the tax base, taking some of the load off the homeowner.

This is how the issue has been bouncing around:

Late in June, council voted 6-3 to reject the original application, which brought protest from some residents near the proposed site.

However, three weeks later council voted 5-3 (one councillor was absent) to hold a public hearing on a revised proposal.

The major revision involved a pledge that the retail store would open at the same time as the warehouse.

Previously, the company said the retail end of the business would open sometime later.

NO OPPOSITION

A public hearing was heard into this proposal, at which no opposition was heard.

But council Tuesday again rejected the application by a vote of 5-4. A 60 per cent majority of council was needed for the rezoning proposal to be adopted.

HASN'T HEARD

Have Eaton's and its contractor, Dominion Construction, given up hope of going into Saanich?

Reeve Hugh Curtis said Friday night he hasn't heard from the company since its last proposal was rejected, but he wouldn't be surprised if they have given up trying to locate in the municipality.

STUNNING REJECTION

He said council's latest move was "a most stunning rejection."

"We pay lip service to the need for this type of industry in our municipality and I can't understand the logic."

Mr. Campbell said all of the preliminary work has been done — permits have been obtained, arrangements have been made for water and sewer connections and the site has been pegged out.

Umbrella Handy?

Cloud and rain — that's the meteorological menu for this autumn weekend.

A storm centre west of Vancouver Island will make the skies dull and bring Victoria's way a string of showers.

Temperatures will be close to what they were Friday, when the high was 58 degrees.

Gale warnings have been issued for Georgia Strait and the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Crash Victim In Hospital

Sixty-five-year-old Nancy Wicks, 1628 Quadra, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital Friday evening with a broken leg and head lacerations after she was hit by a car police said was driven by Gary Anderson, HMCS Mackenzie, at Blanshard and Flagstaff.

Nancy has been chopped into pieces, and it is to be hoped that a future legislature will take steps to put the pieces together again before many years have passed.

Will there be a member in B.C.'s new legislature who has all the problems of Saanich at heart?

Vancouver Pilot Turns Sailor For Trip South

By BOB PETHICK

After 21 years in the air it would almost be a fair bet that Wally Kachur would want to keep his feet on the ground — but not so.

The 37-year-old Vancouver commercial pilot who took to the air at the tender age of 18 has built himself a ketch and what a boat.

With his family of five he plans a leisurely cruise which will extend to the Bahamas. Length of the trip depends on "how good the fishing is and how much money we make."

The ketch was not an instant idea for the man who has flown "all over the world."

The family was always interested in boating and at one time owned a 30-footer when they lived in Vancouver.

Plans for the shiny, 50-foot ketch, Conquistador II, began taking shape while Mr. Kachur was based in Churchill, Man., where he was chief pilot for an Edmonton firm.

"We talked about it and tossed suggestions around. We had the odd argument but then that always happens," he said.

Mr. Kachur's friendly manner first leaves the impression that he is easy-going but when it was learned he did nearly all the building on his ketch in one year, working seven days a week, the easy-going description doesn't apply.

"There is still a lot of work to be done," he said, pointing to tools and parts stacked around the interior of the ketch.

But compared with what has been done, what's left doesn't seem like much.

A small diesel engine propels the Brandimayr-designed hull at a cruising speed of six knots, giving the Conquistador II a range of 1,000 miles on her engines. "She handles beautifully under sail," Mr. Kachur says.

She was built in Matsumoto Shipyard in North Vancouver, where Mr. Kachur found everyone helpful. Technicians took care of some of the more intricate details in the ketch's construction.

Right now, all that remains in the shore work is the fitting of trolling winches, which Mr. Kachur will use on the Coast here until the end of the fishing season.

The smooth-looking woodwork around the cabin, which will sleep eight comfortably, comes as a shock when Mr. Kachur admits he has done some carpentry but adds hastily, "I hate it."

"The family are all worked up about the trip," says Mr. Kachur. But that is only part of it — he is excited about what is to come too.

To keep the children's education up to the mark, the sea-going Kachurs have arranged for correspondence courses.

One crew member that won't be joining the ship for the first while is Samson, huge Samoyed the family brought from the Arctic. He will stay with relatives of the Kachurs here until they have settled in aboard.

It everything goes on schedule Monday, the Conquistador II, with its shiny new paint and neatly furled sails, will back away from the berth in Inner Harbor bound for the West Coast.

In leaving, it will open a brand new method of travel and make reality out of a dream for a man who has spent most of his life in the air.

Returning Officer Gives Up Reins

Ray T. Bryant, the Victoria returning officer for the next riding returning officer in the federal election and more will be named soon.

Under the massive redistribution of seats that became law in July, 264 federal ridings were established and the posts of returning officer became vacant.

John S. Davies, the returning officer in Esquimalt-Saanich riding for the last election, said earlier in the day that he hasn't heard anything about cabinet having appointed him to that riding.

It was learned in Ottawa earlier in the day that he hasn't heard anything about cabinet having appointed him to that riding.

Its previous hours were 9 to 11 p.m.

Trustee Charges

Health Board Collapse Hits Children

By A. H. MURPHY
City Hall Reporter

Health service for 29,680 Greater Victoria children hangs in the balance if the board of health folds, said school board Trustee Mrs. Frances Thompson Friday, and she is "terribly worried."

She referred to the fact that the three urban members of the board — Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt — have given notice that they will withdraw at the end of the year.

Inasmuch as the three are the principal contributors to the board's financial health, its demise on Dec. 31 is almost a sure thing.

At this point no replacement has been proposed.

The Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health is made up of representatives from Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt, Saanich, Central Saanich, Sidney and school districts 61, 62, 63 and 64.

Mayor Toomey admitted at a meeting this week that an emergency is pending. For that reason, he said, it would be wise to set up and maintain close liaison with the Victoria Medical Society. This he intends to do.

Mrs. Thompson

Serious Trouble Coming

"It should be brought to the attention of the people that we are going to be in serious trouble if the Metropolitan Board of Health is allowed to break up," Mrs. Thompson, senior trustee and a former chairman of the Greater Victoria school board, said Friday.

"I don't know what is going to happen and I don't know who is going to look after the health of the children," Mrs. Thompson added.

The union spokesman will be speaking for all shipyard unions except the plumbers and electricians, who will bargain separately.

ON THEIR OWN

The decision of the electricians and plumbers to bargain on their own stems from a dispute which took place in 1964.

The plumbers' union refused to agree to a contract settlement accepted by other shipyard unions after a three-month strike and remained out for an additional three months, which gave them wage parity with the present set-up.

"I fail to see why the city must establish liaison with city doctors. We have three excellent doctors now and a good staff and the school children are being well looked after," Mrs. Thompson continued.

There were difficulties, she admitted, but none which could not be handled. The matter of unequal financial assessment was one which could be cleared up and centralization of staff and administration would tighten up the whole service.

It was a question of whether or not a functioning organization should be scrapped for something completely unknown — and all because of differences of opinion.

The health of the children was the first and overriding consideration in this controversy, the trustee felt, and it was being completely removed from control of member municipalities was not correct, Mrs. Thompson said.

"The city's contention that there was 'empire building' by the board of health and that it was being completely removed from control of member municipalities was not correct," Mrs. Thompson said.

Everything went through municipal councils. The board was not and did not want to be an autonomous body.

Motion Brings 'Fuss'

Referring to Victoria city council's disapproval of a motion to be presented at the annual convention of the Associated Board of Health of B.C. at Penticton next week, Mr. Thompson said: "Such a fuss about a motion which only asks for a study."

All the motion asked, said the trustee, was that an overall province-wide look be taken at the health act, at regional control of health in B.C. and at the powers and position of boards of health.

The position taken by city aldermen was that in view of the imminent break-up of the metropolitan board, as it is now constituted, discussion on such a question would be merely academic.

The city's refusal to give Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread, senior medical officer, permission to attend the convention was "petty," Mrs. Thompson said. "Everyone knows how valuable it is to delegates to have authorities and resource people at conventions. They are there to advise and consult," the trustee said. "Even Mr. Young (city manager) should know that."

"However, that is neither here nor there. I have no wish to get into controversy with anyone at City Hall. My concern is for the children," Mrs. Thompson said.

In the event of the board's dissolution the city would not be in a difficult position, Victoria officials said Friday. Most of the board of health staff, including sanitation, nursing and professional people, were hired by the city.

They also thought Mr. Thompson was unduly alarmed. Health services would not be allowed to break down no matter what happened.

Arrangements would be made and every co-operation would be given by the city.

Three In Hospital

Three people were taken to hospital, and approximately $1,200 damage resulted Friday afternoon from a two-car collision on Quadra and Tattersall.

Sheriff police identified the drivers as Percy MacNutt, 82, of 1978 McTavish, and John Grazley, 19, of 3991 Century Road.

Police said Mrs. MacNutt was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital with undetermined injuries. Mr. Grazley and a passenger in his car, Barry Sale, 20, of 3996 Century Road sustained back injuries and were also taken to hospital.

The accident is still under investigation.

Lawley-Clayton

Heirloom Brooch Something Old

Her great-grandmother's pearl and amethyst brooch was "something old" for Anne Heather Clayton when she became the bride of Kenneth Bruce Lawley in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. The bodice and lily point sleeves of her floor-length gown of white silk faille were accented with lace, touched with seed pearl embroidery. The skirt was in train. A seed pearl coronet held her veil, which had been worn by her mother at her wedding. White gladiolus formed her cascade bouquet.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Clayton, 2338 Kilarney Place, and Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Lawley, 1928 Ashgrove Street. Mr. Clayton gave his daughter in marriage.

Dr. J. L. W. McLean officiated at the evening service. The Communion table was decked with white candles in candleabra and an arrangement of pastel-toned chrysanthemums. During the signing of the register, C. C. Warren played Chopin's Nocturne No. 9, Opus 2, and Bach's "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring."

Floor-length gowns of turquoise taffeta, fashioned on empire lines with chiffon "birdcage" overskirts, were the choice of maid of honor, Miss Lynda Brand, and bridesmaid, Miss Valerie Ford. Debbie Neal and Dawn Brand were flower girls in floor-length frocks of the same material, accented with white lace. All had toning tulle veils, held in place by floral coronets, and carried colonial carnation bouquets.

Bill Anderson was best man and ushering guests were Ken Kidd, Guy Anderson and Ian Fraser.

Ivor G. Guthrie, Vancouver, proposed the toast to his niece's happiness at the reception, held in the War Amputations Hall. Candies flanked the three-tier wedding cake which had been made by the bride's mother.

Mrs. Guthrie also attended the wedding. Other out-of-town guests were Mrs. Ann Antoski and Larry Antoski, both of Hamilton, Ont., and Clyde Beatty, Prince George.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: YOU have a problem. It is assumed to introduce to her parents. It strongly suggests she is rebelling like a pouting child. This is probably a phase that will pass. (Soon, I hope!)

The distance from Anchorage to Amarillo is approximately 2,400 miles. If you allowed six feet of space for each complaining woman, 2,376,000 women could fit into that space very nicely.

Will you take twenty lashes with your old typewriter ribbon — or do I garble my garters? — D.D. OF MILES CITY

Dear D.D.: I just put in a new typewriter ribbon so I'm going to try my darndest to weasel out of the punishment. (If there's anything I hate it's ink on my back.)

I figure that for every woman who writes about a problem there are about a thousand who have it but don't write. Since you are apparently much better with figures than I am please let me know if this gets me off the hook — somewhat.

P.S. If I am guilty of overstating the case you are equally guilty of understanding it. I just learned that the distance between Anchorage and Amarillo is 3,496 miles! So go ahead and garble your garters, bub.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a girl, 18, brought up by some parents who have high morals and good taste. I have been exposed to extensive travel, fine art, music and literature. My father is one of the city's most prominent civic leaders.

You would think that I'd be interested in young men of similar backgrounds and interests, but I'm not. For some strange reason, I am drawn to crude roughnecks — boys with backgrounds very different from mine.

I am in college now and have been dating three fellows. I would be ashamed to have my parents meet any one of them. They'd think I had flipped. Maybe I have. Why am I attracted to the unpolished types — fellows who are poor marriage material? Straighten me out — PLEASE!!! CON-CERNED ABOUT THE FUTURE.

Dear Concerned: When a girl is thinking is fairly solid — on the conscious level, that is. Keep your wits about you, Toots, and don't go off your rocker and marry one of these birds.

PERSONAL MENTION

By Dorothy Wrotnowski

Delegates of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association who will be in conference in Ottawa next week are arriving this evening in Victoria. After a one day stay they will leave on Monday morning.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Pearkes will give a late afternoon reception at Government House for the 180 delegates and that evening the B.C. Government will host a dinner at the Empress Hotel.

For entertainment earlier in the day the Royal Commonwealth Society members have been asked to look after the members. Most are leaving plans until the arrival of the delegation to see what they would like to do.

Scenic drives, visits to the University and luncheons are ready and waiting for their pleasure.

Mr. and Mrs. Dugald Gillespie have left plans open except for buffet luncheon at their St. Charles Street home when Maj. Gen. and Mrs. C. R. Stein and Commodore and Mrs. V. S. Godfrey with their delegates will join them.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Armstrong and Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Skillings will join forces with their delegates for a luncheon at the Exeter Road home of the Armstrongs and Mr. and Mrs. F. A. E. Manning will take their guests for a drive and then their a small buffet luncheon at their Ripon Road home.

The Erie Charnians are giving a luncheon for about 80 guests to which Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Scarrah will bring their delegates. Mr. Nigel Fisher, MC, MP, United Kingdom, The Hon. Sir William McDonald, Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, Victoria, Australia, and Mr. S. St. A. Isaacs, MP, Jamaica, will be the honored guests at the Chairman party.

Mr. Donald Cameron will drive his guests out to the

Two Years Abroad

A terrorizing riot in Amsterdam, a frightening thunderstorm in the Moselle Valley and awesome floods in Yorkshire were all part of the experiences for Mrs. E. J. Savannah and her daughters, Anne and Jane during a two-year stay abroad.

But on the other side of the coin there was thrilling skiing in Switzerland, a saddening visit to Anne Frank's attic in Amsterdam, watching the Lipizzaners in Vienna and the fun of helping to dip sheep on a farm in Yorkshire.

When the family left here they went directly to Switzerland where the girls attended a private school at Villars-Sur-Ollon in the mountains near Lausanne.

Neither of the girls cared much for schooling in Switzerland but their complaints were mostly about the hours. School time was from 8:30 a.m. to noon and from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. with Wednesday and Saturday afternoons free.

However, they both agreed that the skiing more than made up for this.

In June of the first year, the family left Switzerland by car for Paris where they did touristy things like climbing the Eiffel Tower.

Crossing the Channel to Dover they motored North to Yorkshire where they made their headquarters at a farm home at Hubberthorne on the River Wharfe near Skipton.

It was on this farm that the girls helped to dip sheep and learn a hand at the hay making. Both are still wondering why watching a man milk a cow looks so easy when they read that six people were killed in the storm.

They loved the little Hubberthorne church, one of England's oldest, and will carry a memory of that church for a long time to come.

At school opening the Savannahs moved to Ilkley in Yorkshire where they stayed for the school terms.

Side trips in Yorkshire took them to the Lake country and into the valley and dales.

In winter they went to Scotland for skiing. After the Swiss mountains, the Cairngorms failed to make much impression.

They were like large, round pillows, says Anne, and Jane chipped in with "more like round puddings."

A visit to London was a must before leaving England.

Gracious, Feminine Fashions
Previewed at Solarium Show

Feminine logic has returned to the fashion world. The "look" for fall is more gracious, more feminine and more romantic and is more suited to women of any age. It is truly for the woman of fashion.

Victorians had a preview of this long-awaited new look Friday when the Queen Alexandra Solarium Junior League held the first show of the season at the Empress Hotel with all fashions presented by Eaton's. Large crowds attended both the afternoon and evening showings of the affair which was entitled September Song with a '66 Tempo.

Jade, green, grape and pumpkin are among the top colors for the new season. The delightfully "airborn" fabrics such as chiffon and silk nets and the

World Travellers

Those inveterate world travelers, Miles and Beryl Snemeton are about to start off again.

After daughter, Cleo's wedding up at Cowichan next Tuesday morning they'll start packing for their next trip.

In the meantime Mr. and Mrs. Philip P. D. Holmes are having a farewell for them — a wine and cheese party next Saturday evening at the Red Lion.

Flying to Orient

The end of the first week in October will see two nurses off on a two-month trip.

Georgina Collins and Phyllis Drives will fly from here direct to Tokyo, then on to Hong Kong. They make a couple of more stops before coming down in Thailand where the major part of their stay will be.

Here they will be three weeks with a Thailand public health nurse whom Phyllis met while attending McGill University.

They will make short visits in Guam, Manila and Hawaii en route home. Both intend to make the very most of their trip "we've been saving like mad — both in holiday time and MONEY," says Georgina.

Philip Slator takes off for Britain today after spending seven weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Slator.

When the Snemetons settle again it will be on land near Calgary, quite far from the sea which has been their home for so many years.

Long Hair Work Threat

LONDON (Reuters) — An increasing number of young men are getting their long hair caught in machines at work, Britain's chief inspector of factories, R. K. Christy, said Tuesday.

Christy noted that 627 workers died in 293,717 industrial accidents in Britain last year — a record for peace time.

They didn't feel too badly about being frightened when they read that six people were killed in the storm.

Another experience these young travellers won't forget was the ceremony in a little fishing village on the Belgian coast. There was a great fireworks display and much celebrating by the villagers all in national dress the night before the day when the fleet set out. The morning ceremony when the priest blessed the Waters was equally impressive.

And now they are off to Bermuda where they will take up permanent residence. There is an extra one in the family now, a little silver grey poodle puppy, Tammy, a gift from Mr. and Mrs. W. Loudoun on Casey Drive where the girls stayed while here. Mrs. Savannah was with her mother, Mrs. F. Wilshire.

They were like large, round pillows, says Anne, and Jane chipped in with "more like round puddings."

A visit to London was a must before leaving England.

Attfield-Reside

Wedding Trip
To California

A honeymoon trip to California followed the marriage in St. Aidan's United Church of Sheila Grace Reside and Mr. Edward Attfield.

Rev. A. G. MacLeod officiated at the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Reside, 225 Harlow Drive, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Attfield, 670 Derby Road.

For her wedding the bride chose a white floor-length gown with empire waistline and featuring a heavy crepe, straight-line skirt. The lace bodice was styled with a scooped neckline and lily point sleeves in matching lace. A full lace train fell gracefully from the shoulders and her three-tiered veil melted from a seed pearl crown. She carried a cascade of red roses.

Mr. Reside gave his daughter in marriage.

Matron of honor Mrs. D. Rees wore a gold colored dress of peau de soie in empire style. Bridesmaids, Miss Wendy Lace, was in similarly styled gown of blue and Miss Geil Miller was in a matching rose gown. They wore headresses in tone and carried matching bouquets.

Mr. John Ball was best man. Ushering guests to their pew were Mr. Ron Attfield and Mr. Dave Rees.

Toasting the bride was proposed by her uncle, Mr. J. Reside, at the reception which followed in the Uplands Golf Club.

For travelling the new Mrs. Attfield wore a white suit.

Garden Notes

More About Lilies

By M. V. CHESNUT

For several days now I have been beating the big drum on behalf of lilies, for to me these are among the most satisfying flowers that can be grown in the home garden.

Not only are the new hybrids incredibly beautiful in the garden, often with fragrance that can be detected from many yards away, but there is a delightful feeling of extravagance and sinful luxury in being able to use lilies as cut flowers in the house—something like sleeping between silk sheets or bathing in champagne. One of my out-of-town visitors this summer wouldn't believe the cut lilies on our dinner table were real ones until she caught the scent. *

In selecting a site for the fall planting of lily bulbs, I think it is wise to keep in mind the need for good air circulation around and between the plants. As with roses, lilies seem to be much freer from mildew and other blights when they are grown right out in the open rather than tucked away in some sheltered corner where there is little air movement. I think perhaps the airborne disease spores and pests have more difficulty in making a safe landing on plants in a breezy location.

Unlike roses and peonies, which are anti-social creatures, lilies seem to enjoy the company of other plants and are never happier than when growing up through a ground cover of some shallow-rooting plants, or with foreground plantings to shade their roots. I think they look better in company, too, for their tall stems need the tempering and contrasting effect of lower-growing plants such as pinks, violas, thyme, or my favorite weed, Creeping Charlie.

Lilies and pansies make a particularly happy combination. It is unusual, though, to grow lilies close to cucumbers; nicotines or tulips, for these plants can be "Typhoid Mary," carrying virus diseases fatal to lilies although not showing any symptoms themselves.

Every garden book you pick up will demand moist but well-drained soil for lilies; this is because the roots can perish in a matter of hours if the soil is ever permitted to dry out completely, while these same roots would rot if puddles are allowed to stand over the bulbs during the winter rains.

The trick here is to select a spot where the soil drains perfectly—perhaps on a slight slope or in a raised bed—then dig in plenty of organic matter to act as a sponge and retain moisture during dry weather.

In regard to this organic matter, most garden books warn against the use of manure in lily beds; I have never found it harmful. It is true that fresh stuff can be poisonous to the bulb—as it is to almost every plant—but well-rotted manure, thoroughly and intimately mixed into the soil, can do nothing but good. Failing manure, use peat moss plus a light sprinkle of high-phosphate fertilizer.

No lily can prosper without some sun. They will tolerate light shade—for instance, the shifting pattern of dappled sunlight filtering through the high branches of small-leaved trees. Shade cast by buildings or by low-branched evergreens is too gloomy for these plants.

The lily has the reputation of being as fussy as a peony in regard to planting depth, which I don't think is quite true. The thing to remember is that a lily bulb can pull itself deeper into the ground with its contractile roots, but it cannot move upward. If you MUST err, then, err on the side of shallow planting, with loose soil under the bulb.

Actually, each kind of lily has its own most-favored planting depth, and this information is usually supplied by the bulb merchant. If it isn't, you can't go far wrong if you plant four inches deep, measured from the TOP of the bulb.

SYDNEY HARRIS

Too Much, Too Soon

When Lewis Carroll took a trip he would stuff toys and trinkets into his pockets, to amuse any children he might meet during the journey. One of these tricks was a gun made out of paper, which would crack loudly when jerked a certain way.

This was around 1850, and the children were vastly amused with such simple devices. Now it is the children of 1966, who are exposed to adult pleasures, he is still treated on the basis of his chronological age. This creates resentment, rebellions, and, in some extreme cases, outright delinquency.

And I think that unless we take a historical perspective, we cannot understand this menacing master of "Juvenile Delinquency"—which is not so much a matter, at bottom, of teen-agers running wild as it is of younger children growing up too fast in the wrong way.

We talk a great deal about the rising standard of living in the last half century; but we fail to appreciate that our children have enjoyed (or suffered) the same wild ride.

Entertainment, which was in the seemingly attractive too bountiful. Toys have multiplied by the hundreds, not only in production and cost, but also in sophistication. Children today see, hear, and share in more of the adult world within a single day than they did in an entire year during Lewis Carroll's lifetime.

Yet a child of this age is not equipped to cope with the world on such terms; and so, while he is exposed to adult pleasures, he is still treated on the basis of his chronological age. This creates resentment, rebellions, and, in some extreme cases, outright delinquency.

Today, a child of 10, as I have said before, is in some ways twice as old as the children of Carroll's day. He is not older emotionally, but intellectually and socially. The movies, radio, television, all the paraphernalia of a mechanical culture, have conspired to give him a premature sense of size and power and a vast desire to participate in activities of his elders.

Younger girls want to use lipstick and high heels. Some parents can handle these difficulties in a satisfactory way, and others cannot. The children of the latter may become delinquent in one way or another.

This delinquency is a deeper and broader problem than poverty or parental strictness or providing community recreation.

These are all shallow and partial answers; the underlying cause is our frightening rate of technological progress, which leaves our morality lagging miles behind our appetites, and for which we are now beginning to pay a heavy (but predictable) price.

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—On the sick list, Mary Pickford. And the other of Lucille Ball, Lucille and her mother have always been close. In spite of her illness, Miss Pickford is allowing a documentary to be made at her famed "Pickfair" home. Douglas Fairbanks Junior will do the narration.

Mrs. Jean Cohn would heed the telephone calls to "come on over" from Laurence Harvey in England if she could be sure that she would see him every day. Larry is a Monday, Wednesday, Friday kind of man. She'll probably go anyway. Jean has a lovely home here and a mansion, bought jointly with Larry in Palm Springs. Who gets the house in the event of a permanent break?

We don't need an astrologer to forecast that Audrey Hepburn is the least most likely to star for Freddie Kahlmar in A Flea in Her Ear, with Albert Finney who starred in the play. Audrey flew to London especially to see the show when it was playing in the early summer.

One of the reasons that Margaret Leighton is co-starring with Noel Coward and Anna Worsley in his trilogy of Broadway-bound plays is that Lili Palmer and Miss Worsley were feuding like nitro during the London run . . . They are whispering on the corner of Hollywood and Vine that Warren Beatty has given up women for work. It isn't true. Don Juan Warren is attempting to combine both.

Mrs. Sean Connery (Diane Giesta) was drafted into double for one of the Japanese actresses who could not swim for the new James Bond picture: You Only Live Twice. Diane, who looks and must be of Italian extraction with that name, donned a black wig, a diving mask, and her best bikini and plunged. Discussing Hombre, her film with Paul Newman, Diane says it's the best woman's role in any western she has seen. "It's salty, gutsy, like the women had to be in that era." It's also like Diane.

John Huston is hoping to lure Katharine Hepburn back to the screen with The Lonely Passion of Judith Hearne. Had it on his agenda for several years. But until Spencer Tracy returns to his acting career, neither will Hepburn.

Jim and Hesey Backus are at it again—writing another book—one this time, Gilding the Lily. They are putting some of the loot from their books, and his TV shows and films into a new wing on their Bel Air mansion—include a playroom. But with authorship, Gilligan's Island, Continental Showcase, and a good role in Otto Preminger's Hurry Sundown, when does Jim find time to play? . . . Mr. Backus provides a shocker, incidentally, at the end of the Preminger picture. The sort of thing you are asked not to reveal.

David Merrick has promised to bring John Osborne's play, A Patriot For Me, to Broadway. Oh boy, and I do mean boy. Mac Schell starred in London, but to a closed circuit of members only . . . When they call, a show in England a "bomb," it means it's a hit. And they say we speak the same language!

The traps, parallel bars, and all the paraphernalia with which Garbo exercised when she lived in that North Bedford Drive home here, is still in the garage, reports Rex Harrison who has rented the house from owner Jean Negulesco. I read where Garbo had hit 60. Why are we so amazed when people get older? It would be so much worse if they didn't.

ARTHUR HOPPE Stocks Up on Shares

War on Poverty Ended

Herewith is another unpublished chapter from that invaluable reference work. A History of the World — 1950-1959. This chapter is entitled, How the Free Enterprise System Was Saved.

It was in the summer of 1966 that the United States realized something would have to be done about the stock market.

For generations, stock market fluctuations had controlled the economy. If stocks went up, the nation prospered. If stocks went down, the result was depression, unemployment and widespread poverty.

And thus, in an historic move, jurisdiction over the stock market was given to the Department of Agriculture.

The Secretary of Agriculture, in the American way, immediately devised guaranteed food prices for all stocks based on 90 per cent of parity. When any stock dropped below its floor the government promptly purchased enough shares to drive the price back up again.

Soon, silos and granaries from one end of the country to the other were bulging with government-owned surplus stock certificates.

In an effort to slow down the accumulation of these surpluses, quotas and certificate printing allotments were imposed on all major brokerage firms. A few shady promoters, however, managed to make killings under the Stock Bank Plan by not issuing new stocks they had never planned to issue anyway.

But the most far-reaching change came when Congress, in an effort to reduce surpluses, included stock certificates in the Surplus Commodities Program.

One can only imagine the joy the destitute on opening their weekly package to find not merely the usual pound of lard, sack of chick peas and can of powdered milk, but 10 shares of General Motors.

The poor, no longer poor, purchased new clothes to attend stockholder meetings. The investors, having as much confidence in the market as in the government itself, bought, bought, bought. And stocks soared to undreamed of heights. Due to the immutable econ-

Law and the Driver

Traffic safety committee has proposed a list of traffic regulations with explanations where needed.

Vehicle Act. For their benefit, the Victoria Chamber of Commerce

Many motorists are not aware of the clauses of the B.C. Motor

Not included are clauses which refer specifically to professional drivers.

SECTION 184 Caution in Backing Vehicle

The driver of a vehicle shall not cause the vehicle to move backwards into an intersection or over a crosswalk, and shall not, in any event or at any place, cause a vehicle to move backwards unless such movement can be made in safety.

Comment

This section of the Act clearly states that under no circumstances is it permissible to back a motor vehicle into an intersection or over a crosswalk. It also states that a driver may back a vehicle only when it is safe to do so and consequently extreme care at all times must be exercised. Owing to limited vision of the immediate roadway when reversing particular care is needed in residential areas, lanes, and driveways where children are at play. Looking immediately behind your vehicle before entering and backing up is good driving practice. It can often save a child's life.

Bonner Vote Soon

Johnson

By JACK FRY

Legislative Reporter

Premier Bennett said Friday a by-election will be held within two months in an effort to regain a seat in the legislature for Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

He declined to say, however, which Socred MLA will step down to make room for the attorney-general's election, and would not give the actual date of the by-election.

The premier said he does not plan a major shuffle within the cabinet, although a replacement will have to be found soon for Health Minister Eric Martin, who didn't run in this week's election because of ill health.

POST FOR WOMAN

At least one of the three women who were elected on the Socred ticket last Monday will be given a cabinet post.

Asked whether he will have women on the cabinet, the premier replied: "Perhaps as ministers without portfolio, at the start."

This means that special jobs would be created for the newcomers, which would give them an opportunity to learn about the operations of the government — without immediately being placed in charge of an existing department.

NO GREAT CHANGES

There was no decision at this time how many of the women — Pat Jordan of Okanagan North, Grace McCarthy of Vancouver-Little Mountain and Isobel Dawson of Mackenzie — will be given cabinet posts.

Mr. Bennett added that he expects Mr. Martin to remain as B.C.'s health minister "for a month or so," and that there will be "no great changes in the cabinet."

JOB UNCERTAIN

The premier also said he has given "no thought" to the question of whether a government job will be given to the Socred member who will step down to make room for a by-election for Mr. Bonner, who was defeated in Vancouver-Point Grey.

He denied any knowledge of a report that a meeting will be held here this weekend to decide

Bennett Right On Time

A portrait of British Columbia's Premier Bennett will be on the cover of all editions of the Sept. 30 issue of the U.S. news magazine Time.

The world section of this issue of Time, which has a circulation of 3,344,000, will be devoted to the four western provinces — B.C., Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

The magazine will also have a six-page color spread of pictures taken in Western Canada.

MOST DYNAMIC

Premier Bennett was chosen for the cover picture because he was "the most dynamic of the leaders" from this region, Time spokesman told The Colonist Friday.

Most of the material for the western Canada article was gathered by Time's Calgary bureau chief Ed Ogle. This, along with material from numerous other sources, will be compiled into an article by John Scott, who is in charge of Time's Canadian editorial staff.

Premier Bennett recently took time out from his busy election campaign to pose, in Vancouver and other parts of B.C., for Pittsburgh artist Henry Koerner, who painted the cover portrait.

Diefenbaker Ready For Vote

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker stood over the remains of his 71st birthday cake in his Commons office Friday and made clear his willingness for another general election.

"One never knows" what a year could bring in races, said the former Conservative prime minister, after joking about his foot race challenge with a Press Gallery member.

Mr. Diefenbaker, 71 Sunday, said Sir John A. Macdonald had won two elections "after he was older than I," adding the last year had been "the best year... a happy and a healthful one."

Air Duel

MiG Shot Down

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. planes downed a MiG over North Viet Nam Friday during one of two encounters with the Soviet-built jets, the U.S. military command reported today.

The U.S. pilots tangled with six MiGs in running dog flights that ranged from 30 to 50 miles northeast of Hanoi and spotted eight others but did not engage them.

Mr. Bennett added that he expects Mr. Martin to remain as B.C.'s health minister "for a month or so," and that there will be "no great changes in the cabinet."

He denied any knowledge of a report that a meeting will be held here this weekend to decide

Sandown Goes Today With Colonist Event

A total of 10 entries, headed by Permano, the favorite, is eligible for this afternoon's Colonist Handicap as the Victoria racing season begins at Sandown Park.

The Colonist event last year was won by Prince Scorpion over 6½ furlongs. This year's race, the seventh on today's card, will be a mile and 70 yards.

Quinella betting is scheduled for the first and eighth races and exacto on the fourth. Post time is 2 p.m. and the handicap is on Page 13.

Canadian Open
On CBS

TORONTO (CP) — The CBC has completed an agreement with the Columbia Broadcasting System to provide the first live coverage of a Canadian sports event to a U.S. television network — the Canadian open golf championship in Vancouver Oct. 23-25.

Sports supervisor Len Casey said Friday the CBC will provide a feed to CBS Oct. 1-2, providing U.S. viewers with the same coverage available in Canada.

CBS will maintain a coordinator at the Shaughnessy Golf and Country Club, site of the Open, to handle differences in timing of commercial announcements between the two networks.

No financial details of the arrangement were disclosed.

Gay Swiss Accept World Ban

BERN (Reuters) — Three Swiss soccer players have been banned from playing in international matches again because of an unauthorized, late-night car-ride through Switzerland with two English girls during the World Cup tournament in July.

The Swiss Soccer Association imposed the ban during a meeting at which the three players' behavior was described as "irresponsible, inconsiderate, un sporting and undisciplined."

All three players have said they don't intend to appeal the ban. They are goalkeeper Leo Eichmann, 26, halfback Werner Leisinger, 32, and inside forward Koen Kuh, 23.

Magnificent Seven Play Today

Beats Wife-Beating!

By ROBIN JEFFREY
Why does a professional football player come out of retirement to play in Victoria, a city where Afternoon Tea is alleged to be the most popular contact sport?

The player hopes for a comeback? Needs money? Wants his own TV peanut butter commercial? None.

"It's a chance to take out pent-up frustrations," Walt Billick said here Friday. "If you beat up the wife, it would get in the papers. We take it out on somebody else."

Billick is one of seven former B.C. Lions who will play for Victoria Steelers when they make their home debut in the Pacific Football League against Seattle Ramblers at 2 p.m. today in Macdonald Park. The others are Nub Beamer, Jerry Janes, Ian Hagemoen, Ron Morris, Gary Schwefeger and Rae Ross.

"We all know Pete Oiler (Steelers' coach)," said Ron Morris, another member of the Magnificent Seven. "We played with him in the Grey Cup, and we wanted to help him. Victoria's never had anything like this before."

"And we wanted to play football — the way we like to play."

Billick agreed that, for him, the Steelers are purely recreational and said he had no thought of a pro comeback.

"Just like playing tennis?" he was asked.

"Sure."

There's also a feeling the Steelers will give a pro the chance to play the way he likes to play, rather than the way he had to play with a pro club.

So when you see the Steelers knocking people down and getting knocked down at Macdonald Park today, remember — they're enjoying themselves.

Anyone for tennis or Afternoon Tea?

Mann Cup Series Moves Crosstown

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — The fourth game today of Peterborough leads the series 3-1.

After protests from Vancouver coach Bob Marsh and Peterborough's Bob Allen about the slippery floor in this city's Memorial Centre, the Canadian Lacrosse Association agreed Friday to move the game to the Civic Centre, an arena that seats 3,000 fewer people.

Defending champ Jack Nicklaus, winner at Portland in three of the last four years, fell out of contention after playing another round in par. Bill Casper had 67-71-32.

Eight new members will be introduced into the professional football hall of fame today in Canton, Ohio.

They are Steve Owen, coach of the New York Giants, Toronto Argos, Calgary Stampeders and Saskatchewan Roughriders; Sherry Ray, National Football League technical advisor; Walt Kiesling, former coach of Pittsburgh; Joe Guyon of the Giants; Arnie Herber of the Giants and Green Bay Packers; Bud Dwyer of Chicago Bears; Bill Dudley of the Steelers, Detroit Lions and Washington Redskins; and George McAfee of the Bears. This brings the total membership to 39.

Coach Glickart has made it clear he wants to stay in the American Football League and will play for anybody with whom he is having a salary dispute.

Said Glickart: "I'm not a bad guy. I've been given a bad image. I want to play and I can be in shape in three days. I'll never play for Denver."

Football claimed another fatality when Michael Keller, 15, died in Rockville Centre, N.Y., following a high school practice.

Keller complained about a head hurt after he made a tackle, then left the football field and fell unconscious.

Stewards at Calgary's Victoria Park race track have recommended a life suspension for owner Wayne Douglas Wise, 23. An investigation showed Wise had a splicer, a device used to stimulate horses. The stewards recommended a two-year suspension for Jockey Norman David Jewell.

In other sports, Canadian heavyweight champion George Olavale knocked out Bob Avery of Sudbury, Ont., 5 and 4 in a scheduled 10-round bout in Edmonton ... A. E. Lathers, 26, won the U.S. Yacht championship by taking the fifth and final race of the International 5.5-metre yacht competition at Stamford.

Campbell

COCOMO — Darkness was settling over the rugged scenery near Bamfield, on the west coast of the Island, when Dan Campbell spotted the wreckage.

Ft.-Lt. Lieutenant Campbell, no relation to the municipal affairs minister, was at the controls of his helicopter, looking for evidence of an accident.

Ft.-Lt. Campbell, 121 Search and Rescue, saw the downed light aircraft on the evening of July 18, last year.

There was no landing space in the heavy forest.

Then came an act of amazing daring.

The pilot began to settle his helicopter into the big trees.

He nestled the roaring machine into the evergreens, until its rotor blades were barely missing the uppermost branches.

Then a two-man team was lowered to the ground from the hovering machine.

Ft.-Lt. Campbell knew there might be injured people in the wreckage, and delay could be fatal.

But he also knew, as he held the machine steady just inches from the tree branches, and the two rescuers descended from the swaying helicopter, that he had been in the air for a long time.

His precious fuel was almost gone.

When the para-rescue team reached the ground, Ft.-Lt. Campbell left immediately to refill the tanks.

Meanwhile, the rescue pair found two badly-injured people in the downed plane.

In the blackness of night, as he waited for his tanks to be refilled, Ft.-Lt. Campbell made his decision.

Rather than wait until daylight, he would fly back immediately.

Again hovering at treetop level, he winched the rescuers and the injured aboard.

Then, the helicopter was flown to a hospital.

Just after midnight, as the helicopter arrived at its destination, poor weather settled on the crash location, and remained two days.

If Ft.-Lt. Campbell had waited until daylight, he would not have made it back.

A medical official said later one of the crash victims would have died from injuries, exposure and shock, if the pilot had waited any longer.

For the mission, Ft.-Lt. Campbell was recently awarded the Air Force Cross.

Friday he will receive the British Columbia Aviation Council's air safety trophy.

It will be presented at the council's annual meeting at Harrison Hot Springs.

Council Wants New Hall—1967

New Park Area Will Be Bought

DUNCAN—Members of city council, North Cowichan Municipal Council and Cowichan Exhibition Board agreed in principle to purchase on a joint basis of 5.4 acres of land adjacent to Pioneer Park.

The additional area would be developed as recreational areas and in the fall it would serve the Cowichan Fall Fair.

Before a final deal can be made with the private owners, Duncan, because the proposed acreage is outside its boundaries, will have to ask its taxpayers in a referendum for approval.

Estimated cost of the piece of land is $35,000 and the purchase would be made on a cost-sharing basis with the Exhibition Board contributing a small portion.

Attending the special meeting were Mayor Jack Dobson and Ald Jim Saunders, Duncan; Reeve Donald Morton and Municipal Clerk A. Vando Casteyen, and Cowichan Exhibition Board President Peter Stone.

'We Need Help'

PORT ALBERNI — The first garden for the season will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. by some of the problems of financing the sheltered workshop and the kindergarten which has only 19 paid members, and about 30 associate members representing various groups who make contributions to our public appeal.

Parents, guardians and friends are invited to attend the meeting and hear reports of decisions made at the provincial conference held in Nanaimo shortly before the vacation began.

Plans for opening the kinder-

"This is a tremendous sum for a small group to raise annually," president Mr. P. W. Taylor explained.

"Only about 25 per cent of our greatest need is for volunteers to help with the bingo games which bring in a great part of our funds."

"It takes 14 people to handle a bingo game adequately. This includes callers, collectors, cashiers and checkers, all of whom must give their services voluntarily."

"We hope to set up a volunteer pool of at least 30 to 35 people to help relieve the burden. Three groups of 12 people each, plus our two callers, would mean volunteers would only have to come out once in six weeks."

"I am sure we have enough interested people with good hearts and strong legs willing to race around the tables once every six weeks for a cause such as ours."

Eight young adults are at present at work in the sheltered workshop at Arrowmith Services, and a survey indicates there may be as many as seven pre-schoolers enrolled in the kindergarten which it is hoped will re-open early in October.

Duncan Club Prepares Operetta

DUNCAN — As a special contribution to Canada's centenary, Duncan Musical Club will produce the Kern-Hammerstein operetta Showboat in April.

Rehearsals will begin Sept. 30. Club president John Sanders said, "We hope to have four performances of Duncan and one at Victoria."

YELLAND'S BATON

The approximate cost will be between $4,000 and $5,000.

The operetta will be under the musical direction of Peter Yelland.

Stage director will be Ruth Murrell and production manager will be Joyce Hughes.

CASTING COMING

Mr. Sanders said the eight leading characters will be chosen during the first rehearsals and anyone interested should attend.

The first rehearsal will be held at the United Church Hall.

Mr. Sanders said the stage work for the operetta is at least as complicated as anything the club has ever undertaken and this time stage personnel will take part in the development of the musical earlier than during past plays.

Nazi Facts Dug Up By Agent

TORONTO (CP) — The names of more than 600 Canadians who have contributed to the American Nazi party or who requested information on the party have been passed on to police and the Canadian Jewish Congress.

The names were mailed to Canadian Nazi leader John Beattie, 24, who never saw them because his right-hand man was private detective John Garrity, 37, employed by the congress.

Mr. Garrity said at a press conference Friday he had spent 18 months as a member of the Canadian Nazi party and risen to its Heinrich Himmler and Beattie's body-guard.

PASSES INFO

He said he has also passed on the names of most known Canadian Nazis, copies of all Beattie's party records and names and addresses of supporters.

"These include the list of those who contribute to party funds, those shadowy supporters who keep Beattie going but have not the guts to acknowledge publicly that they are Nazis," says Mr. Garrity in an article to appear in Maclean's magazine.

MOST IN TORONTO

He said most of the supporters live in Toronto, Montreal, Sault Ste. Marie, Lloyminster, Sask., Sudbury, Hamilton, Stoney Creek, Ont., and Oshawa.

In Toronto there are five prominent businessmen who are regular contributors to party funds, said Mr. Garrity. He did not disclose names.

Later Friday, a spokesman for the Canadian Jewish Congress confirmed Mr. Garrity had been paid from $75 to $200 a month to gather information on the Nazis.

Zeballos Pact Invalid

ZEBALLOS — The Labor Relations Board has declared invalid a collective agreement between Zeballos Iron Mines Limited and Zeballos District Mine and Mill Workers.

The agreement had become effective on May 1, 1965, and was questioned by Zeballos Iron Mines Limited.

Zeballos District Mine and Mill Workers Union did not submit argument and upon receiving a report on the investigation, the board made its decision.

No Date Set Bonner Vote Soon

By JACK FRY
Legislative Reporter

Premier Bennett said Friday a by-election will be held within two months in an effort to regain a seat in the legislature for Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

He declined to say, however, which Soored MLA will step down to make room for the attorney-general's election, and would not give the actual date of the by-election.

The premier said he does not plan a major shuffle within the cabinet, although a replacement will have to be found soon for Health Minister Eric Martin, who didn't run in this week's election because of ill health.

POST FOR WOMAN

At least one of the three women who were elected on the Soored ticket last Monday will be given a cabinet post.

Asked whether he will have women on the cabinet, the premier replied: "Perhaps as ministers without portfolio, at the start."

This means special jobs would be created for the newcomers, which would give them an opportunity to learn about the operations of the government — without immediately being placed in charge of an existing department.

NO GREAT CHANGES

There was no decision at this time how many of the women — Pat Jordan of Okanagan North, Grace McCarthy of Vancouver-Little Mountain and Isobel Dawson of Mackenzie — will be given cabinet posts.

Mr. Bennett added that he expects Mr. Martin to remain as B.C.'s health minister "for a month or so," and that there will be "no great changes in the cabinet."

JOB UNCERTAIN

The premier also said he has given "no thought" to the question of whether a government job will be given as compensation to the Soored member who will step down to make room for a by-election for Mr. Bonner, who was defeated in Vancouver-Point Grey.

He denied knowledge of a report that a meeting will be held here this weekend to decide

Bennett Right On Time

A portrait of British Columbia's Premier Bennett will be on the cover of all editions of the Sept. 30 issue of the U.S. news magazine Time.

The world section of this issue of Time, which has a circulation of 3,344,000, will be devoted to the four western provinces — B.C., Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

The magazine will also have a six-page color spread of pictures taken in Western Canada.

MONT DYNAMIC

Premier Bennett was chosen for the cover picture because he was "the most dynamic of the leaders" from this region, Time spokesman told The Colonist Friday.

Most of the material for the western Canada article was gathered by Time's Calgary bureau chief Ed Ogle. This, along with material from numerous other sources, will be compiled into an article by John Scott, who is in charge of Time's Canadian editorial staff.

Diefenbaker Ready For Vote

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker stood over the remains of his 71st birthday cake in his Commons office Friday and made clear about his foot race challenge with a Press Gallery member.

Mr. Diefenbaker, 71 Sunday, said Sir John A. Macdonald had won two elections "after he was older than I," adding the last year had been "the best year . . . a happy and a healthful one."
